BIG FIRE IN CRANSTON

DARTMOUTH INVADES BOSTON

FATHER FIGHTS MAD DOG AND SAVES CHILD

Ottie, Attacked in Bedroom by Crazed Animal, Badly Bitten.

To be awakened by his wife's and child's screams for help and to have a mad dog, foaming at the mouth, its eyes like two livid coals, leap upon him in his bed, was the experience of William Ottie, of the Fairbanks Scales Company, who lives in a fine apartment on the fourth floor of 305A Warren street, Roxbury.

Ottie leaped out of his bed and for half an hour had to battle with the maddened beast with no weapons but his clenched fist. He was terribly bitten.

Mrs. Ottie had just turned out the lights when she was startled by a noise at the door. Thinking of burglars she crept over and listened.

"Scratch, scratch, scratch," she heard. "They're trying to force the door," she thought, too frightened to call her husband and not wishing to frighten Adelaide, her fourteen-year-old daughter. Just then she heard a plaintive little whine.

Dog Dashes at Her.

Relieved, she threw open the door and started after the intruder, a large mongrel mixture of fox and bull terrier.

The animal dashed down one flight of stairs and there took his stand. Mrs. Ottie went down courageously after it. Just as she got to within two steps the beast, with a snarl of rage, leaped at her. The situation then flashed on her. The dog was mad.

With a scream of terror Mrs. Ottie started back. She had hardly turned when she felt the beast's fangs sink into her ankle. With the strength of desperation she kicked the brute off and stumbled up the stairs crying frantically for help. The neighbors heard her, and when they started to her assistance she called to them to keep back, to keep their children in, that there was a mad dog.

"William! William!" she cried to her husband, who slumbered heavily in his first sleep. Before she could warn him the dog dashed by her and into her husband's room. With a snarl he jumped on the bed and hurled himself at Ottie. Ottie, thoroughly awakened, jumped out of his bed. He had no time to turn up the light, and all he could see to tell him where the beast was crouching was its eyes gleaming like two coals of fire.

Just then Adelaide, the daughter, appeared. The dog saw her and, barking ferociously, leaped at her. She had just time to spring up on a table—a leap she never could make under any other conditions. Fear gave her unnatural agility.

Barehanded, Beats Dog.

Ottie saw his child's peril and went after the beast, giving it a blow with his fist as it was in the air and knocking it snarling over under a table. Like a flash of lightning it returned to the fight. It sank its teeth into Ottie's pajamas, ripping them off like paper, and then grabbed him by the leg. He managed to beat the beast back, but barefooted as he was, and unarmed, he was no match for the infuriated canine.

The beast seemed to grow in size and power in the shadows until Ottie in his excitement and weak from loss of blood, felt that it was the size of the lion. All the time as he fought he groped about for the locked door, leading into the hall. As soon as he would find it and make an effort to turn the key he had to resume his battle with the beast. At last he managed to get the door open. By a singular bit of luck he managed to thrust the dog out into the hallway, where it rushed back and forth, snarling and yelping.

Running down the back stairs Ottie called to the other tenants on the three lower floors not to dare venture out into the front hallways. He rushed out into the street with his blood-stained night clothes hanging in rags about him, and found two policemen. Quickly he explained the situation to them. They forced the front door and on the second landing found the dog waiting for them.

The policemen charged up with drawn clubs. The dog met them half way. The foremost officer caught the dog as it sprang and with a terrific rap of his club sent it flying over the balustrade apparently knocked out.

Shot to Death in Street.

Back it bounded. The policemen kicked at it and the dog tore their trousers from the knees down in ribbons. They finally got it into the street, where they shot it.

Dr. Williams of No. 303 Warren street, next door, cauterized the wounds of Mr. Ottie and his wife. He advised them by all means to lose no time in taking the Pasteur treatment at the City Hospital and they took his advice.

BIG SUCCESS CROWNS FAIR TO AID CHARITY

Success far beyond the fondest hopes of the promoters of the affair now seems assured for the "Bazaar of Nations," the fair that is being held in Mechanic's Hall, and which will end to-morrow night, by the various Catholic charities of the diocese of Boston.

Archbishop O'Connell, whose idea this general bazaar is, and Rev. Joseph G. Anderson, diocesan director of charities, and the members of the different committees in charge of the booths are all loud in their praise of the Catholics of Boston and vicinity who are turning out in large numbers to aid the charities project.

It is the judgment of Archbishop O'Connell that the various charities in and around Boston can best be aided by one big bazaar or effort of a similar kind on the part of the public, thereby creating a fund which can be used for the furtherance of or meeting the expenses of these charities.

To-night is M. C. O. F. night at the bazaar.

$200,000 FIRE SWEEPS PLANT IN STONEHAM

A $200,000 fire at Stoneham early today destroyed the Shawmut Motor Company's plant, drove into the cold several families in adjoining tenement houses and threatened with flying firebrands the residence section as far as Gould street, half a mile to the east.

While the department was putting up a desperate battle against the flames the tower on the fire station was ignited and suffered considerable damage.

Wakefield and Winchester departments sent timely aid. With the assistance of the out-of-town apparatus the local department was finally able to check the flames, but not before the whole town had been given a lively scare.

EMPEROR OF CHINA IS DEAD

By Boston American Leased Wire.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—Official notice of the death of the Emperor of China, Kwang Su, has been received at the State Department here, and at the Chinese legation. He died suddenly at the Imperial Palace at Pekin.

The Emperor was but thirty-eight years old, and his health has long been a matter of grave concern to the Empire. During the entire period of his reign his mother, the Dowager Empress Tsi Hsi, was the virtual ruler, and she kept Kwang Su, who appears to have been a moral and mental weakling, in the background.

The news of the death of Kwang Su was suppressed until after his nephew, Prince Pu[illegible], who is only three years old, was taken into the palace by the Dowager Empress and installed on the throne. The prince is a son of Prince Chun, brother of the Emperor, and was designated recently as the heir presumptive.

The Emperor suffered from nephritis, complicated with other ailments. The foreign legations in Pekin offered the services of their skilled physicians, but their offers were declined by the Empress Dowager, and her son was treated by native doctors.

One of the last acts of the Emperor was to issue an edict promising constitutional government and ordering administrative and financial reforms.

REPORT DOWAGER EMPRESS DYING AS SON EXPIRES

Special Cable to Boston American.

PEKIN, Nov. 13.—A rumor is current that the Dowager Empress of China is dying at the Winter Palace.

The rumor is not credited by the populace and probably grew out of the fact that Tsi An fainted as the body of the Emperor was being carried from the Winter Palace to the death chamber in the Forbidden City.

"MORAN ONLY SEEKS REST," WIRES KILEY

By Telegraph to the Editor of the Boston American.

DENVER, Col., Nov. 13.—John B. Moran was doing well when I last saw him. He declines to talk politics but seeks rest, quiet and favorable climatic conditions. He wants to be let alone in his battle for health. He has not been and will not be interviewed for publication.

White Mountain Warriors Buoyed with Confidence After Victory Over Tigers Come to Battle with Harvard's Husky Football Eleven.

In the pink of condition and chock full of confidence, the Dartmouth football eleven, substitutes and coaches, arrive in Boston late this afternoon for the struggle with Harvard in the Soldiers Field Stadium to-morrow.

The players are accompanied by over 500 enthusiastic Dartmouth undergraduates. An equal number, already here or arriving later, will swell the total Dartmouth student attendance at the game.

The Harvard eleven, equally confident, eagerly awaits the time for the clash on the gridiron.

Head Coach Percy D. Haughton of Harvard says:

"Our men are in fine shape. We have no boasts to make for to-morrow. But the Harvard eleven will give a good account of itself."

But Dr. "Jack" O'Connor, head coach for Dartmouth, is equally sanguine for the Green. He says:

"Every Dartmouth man is in the pink of condition for to-morrow."

"Go In and Win."—O'Connor.

In his final speech to the players to-day Coach O'Connor said:

"You have the ability to win. It is up to you to play as I know you can play. If you do that, victory will be yours. Go in and win."

Dartmouth will probably line up as follows to-morrow on Soldiers Field:

In Boston the Dartmouth team and substitutes will be quartered at the Copley Square Hotel. They will attend Keith's Theatre to-night.

To-morrow they will have light signal practice after breakfast. Lunch will be served at 12:30. After a brief rest the team will start for the Stadium and the game.

Meanwhile the Harvard team, after light practice to-day, is waiting with fierce [illegible] for to-morrow's fray. The Crimson line-up is forecasted as follows:

[illegible], left end; McKay, left tackle; [illegible], left guard; [illegible], centre; [illegible], right guard; Fish, right tackle; Browne, right end; [illegible], quarterback; Corbett, left halfback; White, right halfback; Kennard or Ver Wiebe, fullback.

Slight Odds on Crimson.

More than thirty-five thousand people will see the game. You can't buy a ticket now except from a speculator.

There is a tremendous interest in the contest. It is the last Harvard game on the home field. There is the hottest kind of rivalry between the Crimson and the Green. Usually all prior games are overshadowed by the big Harvard-Yale contest, which winds up the season. But no one is talking about the Yale game to-day. The question is: Will Harvard or Dartmouth win?

Harvard men point to their slashing victory over the Indians last Saturday, and say they will eat up Dartmouth, offering odds of 10 to 8. These odds are being given, also, by the professional layers. At the Adams House last night one bet of $500 was placed at these odds and three bets of $100 each. This gives merely a sample of the way it is going.

The Dartmouth men, however, elated by the 10 to 6 victory over Princeton, are taking all the Harvard money they can get at any odds, and are even putting their cash out on even bets. College loyalty, of course, is a factor in jumping up the Dartmouth odds to the even line, but the Dartmouth supporters declare that they are justified in hoping for an even break, at least.

How to Reach the Stadium To-morrow.

☞ Hanover and Court streets to the Stadium via Western avenue and also to Harvard square. Special cars 12:15 to 1:35 p. m.

☞ Bowdoin square, special cars 12:20 p. m.

☞ Park street subway station, every half minute, from 12 to 1:35 p. m.

☞ North station via Cambridge to Harvard square, special cars 11:45 a. m. to 1:35 p. m.

☞ Dudley Street station, lower level, special cars 11:30 a. m. to 1:35 p. m.

☞ The Boston & Albany Railroad will run four special trains to Allston. The trains will leave the South Station at 12:48, 1:20, 1:28 and 1:40 p. m., stopping at Trinity Place, and returning after the game.

A quick and convenient way to reach the grounds from Dudley street would be to take the Brookline car from the upper level and change at Brookline village for the extra cars which will be run from that point every five minutes for Allston, whence it is but a short walk to the Stadium.

Extra service will be run from Arlington and from Newton via Mt. Auburn to Harvard square to convey passengers coming in on trains from the north to those points.

RAYMOND HITCHCOCK FREED FROM BOND

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Raymond Hitchcock, the actor, who has been out on $7,500 bail ever since his acquittal on two of six indictments found against him on charges brought by three little girls, was to-day discharged from the necessity of continuing the bond, and District Attorney Jerome acknowledged in court that the actor would never be brought to trial on the four remaining indictments.

MANY NEW ENTRIES IN YOUR CONTEST

The voting for this week will close at 2 p. m. to-morrow in the BOSTON AMERICAN Free European Tour Contest.

The SUNDAY AMERICAN will print the full standing of contestants and the list will show not only a large increase in the vote over a week ago, but additional candidates in several districts.

Much of the voting to-day and to-morrow will be done by special ballot. Under this method candidates go ahead in the contest by jumps of 1,000 votes at a time which makes it a most popular way of voting. In several districts the leaders are DOING ALL THEIR VOTING BY SPECIAL BALLOT.

The surest way to success in this contest is to BEGIN WORK TO-DAY. Don't delay. Organize clubs in aid of your candidacy among ALL YOUR FRIENDS. Arrange parties, socials, picnics, etc. Invite the public to come to them, and as an admission fee exact a certain number of voting coupons, clipped from the BOSTON AMERICAN, at the door.

You will be SURPRISED AT THE RESULTS.

Communicate frequently with the European Tour Editor at the BOSTON AMERICAN office, by mail or otherwise—and keep him acquainted with your plans for public gatherings in aid of your candidacy. The AMERICAN will gladly print all the news that may develop.

Two years ago the BOSTON AMERICAN, in a similar contest confined to [illegible] the public schools, sent a large party of teachers abroad on FREE TRIPS, which were practically the same as those for the winners in the present contest.

Here are brief extracts from statements made by two of the winners upon their return:

MADELINE A. FOPPIANO, Washington School, Boston—"Too soon I have returned from a grand, glorious trip. Too soon the happiest days of my life are over. No one can imagine what joy I experienced."

ELLEN DE S. BARRETT, Newburyport: "It was a delightful time from start to finish. Every one of our congenial party profited immensely in every way by our experience. We are filled with gratitude to the BOSTON AMERICAN."

MRS. FISKE IN NEW ROLE

Special to the Boston American.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 13.—The premiere of "Salvation Nell," with Mrs. Fiske in the title role, was given last night before a large audience in the Providence Opera House.

"Salvation Nell" is a dramatic, or rather, melodramatic, story of life on the East Side of New York. It is the work of Edward Sheldon, who was graduated from Harvard last Summer.

The play is produced with close attention to detail by Harrison Grey Fiske. The first act takes place in a saloon on the East Side, in which the depravity and wretched poverty of that congested district is faithfully portrayed.

Mrs. Fiske is the young scrub-woman in the saloon. She is in love with a worthless tough, who goes to prison, and, after he serves his term, seeks to bring her to his side again. She has joined the Salvation Army, however, and, securing her own regeneration, finally achieves his as well.

Mrs. Fiske has numerous opportunities for emotional acting, which she utilized with her usual artistic ability.

FORESTERS' NIGHT AT THE CHARITY BAZAAR

zaar, and it is expected that members of the order will attend in large numbers. In contradistinction to the A. O. H. and the Knights of Columbus, the Foresters will not parade to the hall to-night.

Notice to Foresters.

The Foresters are not a parading organization and no special program has been arranged for their appearance to-night. Notices have been sent to all the members of the order in Massachusetts that their presence at the bazaar to-night is desired and that it is their duty as Catholics and members of an order whose fundamental principle is charity, to attend and do what each can do to make the bazaar a success and help swell the fund that will be available to assist the needy during the coming year.

Charles E. Bonning of Malden, high chief ranger of the order, will make a brief address to the assemblage, and it is expected that Archbishop O'Connell will respond and make a few remarks to the members of the order and the general gathering.

Reception Committee.

The members of the order will be received by a special reception committee. This committee consists of Captain Dennis F. O'Sullivan of Franklin, the first high chief ranger of the order; the following past chief rangers: Captain Jeremiah G. Fennessey of Boston, Stephen Murphy of Hyde Park, B. R. Moody of Canton, Colonel Thomas F. Doherty of Dorchester, Daniel A. Cronin of Roxbury, Timothy B. Reardon of Lynn and Dennis E. Murphy of Brockton and present chief rangers of the various courts.

During the evening High Chief Ranger Bonning will go through the hall meeting members of the order and making them acquainted with the workers in the various booths. In this work he will be assisted by the following officers of the order, who will act as a "steering committee":

Aids to Chief Ranger.

Daniel H. Maguire, H. V. C. R., of Haverhill, John F. Harrigan, H. S. C., of Worcester, Cornelius M. Duggan, H. J. C., of Atlantic, James Bigham, H. T. S., of New Bedford, Edward N. Clancy, H. O. Schaver, Mrs. Barbara Stuper, Mrs. Mary A. Costello, John N. Berlo, Leo Pandrey and Patrick A. Kellard of South Boston.

The courts of women members of the order will also be fully represented. It has been found impossible for the women members to make any concerted systematic demonstration to-night as a very large number of them are workers on the various booths. But not to be outdone by their brothers in the order the women have arranged a committee, the members of which will endeavor to make the evening as pleasant as possible for the hundreds of their sisters in the order who will be present. Among those on the committee are:

Mrs. Sarah F. Cronin, Mary M. Glynn and Agnes M. Sullivan of Roxbury; Delia S. McGeever, Elizabeth Gallagher, Mrs. Mary E. O'Conor, Mrs. Margaret M. Children's Day To-morrow.

At the bazaar last night members of the Knights of Columbus turned out and they with their friends, thronged the vast hall.

The feature last night was the drill by the Fourth Degree team of the order, under Captain Dennis J. Gorman.

To-morrow, Saturday, will be children's day and a special program has been arranged for their benefit.

The National Shawmut Bank has appointed the Old Colony Trust Company transfer agent of its own stock. This is the first instance in this country, and is the direct result of the list of comptroller's questions, No. 22 of which asks: "Has a committee ever checked up the stock ledger?"

A fight between two workmen at the Columbia Jewelry factory in North Cambridge to-day called the police to quell the disturbance. Louis Sartori, twenty-four, was taken to the Cambridge Relief Hospital with a severe scalp wound.

Millege Crossman was to-day fined $25 in the Malden Police Court for the larceny of a clock from a family whose household goods he had moved.

The Dartmouth football team has secured seats for Keith's Theatre to-night and will be accompanied by a large delegation of students from Hanover College.

108 ATHLETES IN RELAY RACE

PROVIDENCE, Nov. 13.—There is great interest in the relay race between Providence and Boston, which will be started at noon to-morrow by the Y. M. C. A. at the building here and run through to the Y. M. C. A. building at Boylston and Berkeley streets, Boston.

The 108 young athletes who will run will be from the cities of Providence, Taunton, Quincy, Brockton and Boston. They will carry a silver tube with a message from President E. H. Fuller of the Providence association to President Johnson of the Boston branch.

An automobile squad of nine machines will accompany the runners. It will be in charge of John J. Butler, chairman of the physical instruction committee of the local association.

Arthur Haddleton, the crack half-miler who has won local honors and medals in Canada, will run the first half mile. He says he hopes to make it under the two-minute mark.

FINDS BULLET THAT HIT HIM IN HIS POCKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Postmaster Edward Morgan was so much improved to-day that he inquired of Mrs. Morgan if the bullet which struck him had been found. He had been told there was evidence of it having entered his overcoat on the left side, but that there was no hole to indicate that it had passed through and out of the right side of the garment.

"It must be in the lining," declared the Postmaster, as he insisted Mrs. Morgan get the coat and look. The overcoat was brought, but no leaden ball could be found in the lining or elsewhere. Not satisfied, the Postmaster insisted upon making an examination of his undercoat and vest, declaring as it wasn't in him the bullet must be somewhere in his clothing.

As greatly pleased as if he had been allowed another one hundred carriers and clerks, the postal official fished the bullet out of his right-hand lower vest pocket. Despite the fact that it had passed through his clothing on one side and through eight inches of his body the ball was but slightly flattened.

"This is the ball that almost killed father," said Mr. Morgan, turning to his wife.

By December 10 he will be ready for the great volume of Christmas business which has been his care for nearly a quarter of a century.

SCHWAB PLANS BIG DOCKS FOR FRISCO PORT

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 13.—Charles M. Schwab, who has been here for several days carrying on negotiations, has announced that the Bethlehem Steel Company had bought two dry docks at Hunter's Point and three docks at the foot of Sixteenth street and would enlarge them so as to accommodate the demand for the repair of ships at this port.

Meanwhile the Union Iron Works, he said, would build a 1,050 foot dock at Hunters Point, which would be the largest dry dock in the world, costing $1,125,000. The object in acquiring other dry docks was to use them in conjunction with the Union Iron Works.

Heretofore San Francisco has been notorious as a costly port for the repair of ships because the docks were under one management and the shipbuilding plant under another. By bringing both under one management the cost of repairs would be much lessened.

Mr. Schwab said the purpose was to increase the shipbuilding plant at Union Iron Works and make it the largest in the country.

SMART SET THRONG BIG HORSE SHOW

Big Attendance Recalls Former Triumphs in New York.

HAVE 'HIGH JUMP' TO-NIGHT

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—The Garden was crowded again today at the Horse Show. People who have been saying recently that the Horse Show is dead and that New York won't go to it any more should have looked in at Madison Square Garden last night.

Quick walking was wholly impossible in the thick of thousands who were treading the boards at a snail's pace.

In class 40, for pairs to ladies' phaetons, Mrs. C. W. Watson had entered the Hackney mares Kitty Grey and Morena and drove them herself. Just as the class was lined up for final judging she was told that her pair were out of it, since they had won in the same class in 1904 and should not have been entered again under the rules. The blue went to Tense and Tennant, driven by Mrs. Paul A. Sorg. Mrs. Watson was sent out of the ring.

Later Mrs. Watson explained that if Kitty Grey and Morena had won in 1904 they were owned then by Eben D. Jordan, the Boston merchant, and that she had a perfect right to show them.

The feature of the show to-night will be the "high jump," which annually affords certain daring young men an opportunity of breaking their necks in public. It is expected to draw another full house.

BACK BROKEN; LIVED TWO YEARS; DIES

SOUTH FRAMINGHAM, Nov. 13.—Announcement was made at the Framingham Hospital to-day of the death, late last night, of Chester Nicholson, who for more than two years had been confined to the hospital with a broken back, the result of the collapse of the Amsden building here, July 23, 1906, when twelve fellow workmen were killed and more than twenty seriously injured.

After he was removed to the hospital it was found that his back had been broken and the spinal cord severed. For more than nine months Nicholson was confined to his bed, but later was able to sit up. Nicholson was 30 years old, and unmarried.

The Remarkable Will of a Doctor

He Leaves the Secret of Life to His Children and the World.

One of the world's greatest physicians upon his death bed called his children about him and said: "When I die I will leave the secret of life as I have discovered it in my practice."

When they read his will it directed them to a safety vault which contained a large envelope marked thus: "The Secret of Life." Upon opening it they read: "Don't abuse the stomach." This profound thinker, after a long life of medicine, knew the stomach to be the throne of man.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will help you make a stomach healthy.

If it is worn out and lacks the fluids of digestion these tablets will take the place of such fluids.

If it is filled with poisonous juices, these tablets will neutralize and remove such poison.

If you cannot eat without agony, these tablets will show you how you can. If you will eat foolishly or drink excessively, or if business demands abuse of stomach, these tablets after meals will make such abuse light, for they take the hardship away from the stomach.

They are great digesters, filled with more powerful agents than the system can give. They go back into the blood after they have digested a meal, thereby increasing the ability of nature to take care of digestion without exhausting other organs.

High livers need feel no considerable hardship if they will eat one of these little tablets after a rich or late meal.

It is a splendid gift to the stomach and a good habit to form. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets sell for 50c per package at every drug store.

Send us your name and address and we will send you a trial package by mail free. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

BOOK AGENT, BROKE, COMMITS SUICIDE

At the North Grove street morgue to-day lies the body of Frederick W. Lunt, who committed suicide by shooting in a West End Hotel. Lunt was a book agent, and his home is supposed to be in Waterloo, Me. He evidently was in adverse circumstances, for when his body was discovered not a cent of money or an article of jewelry could be found.

On a table in the room that Lunt had occupied were two letters, one of them addressed to H. S. Clows Publishing Company of Philadelphia and the other a letter he had received a month ago from a man in St. Louis.

Lunt was about thirty-two years old, and was more than six feet tall. He was fairly well dressed in a double-breasted blue serge suit and a dark gray overcoat.

BRET HARTE SCORED AS FAKIR BY ROYCE

BURGLAR GANG ROB IN WEST END

Burglars have been busy in the West End of late, and the police believe there is an organized band of housebreakers at work. Thieves stole $22 and a suit of clothes from the home of Samuel Rabinxohuetz at No. 20 Minot street last night, a suit from the room of Nathan Geddes in the same house, and clothing valued at $46 from Samuel Yaffe at No. 58 Leverett street.

Wednesday morning thieves rifled a money box in the drug store of J. F. Gearan at Temple and Cambridge streets and took $30 away, overlooking $200. They robbed the cash drawer in McArthur's bakery at No. 40 Cambridge street on Monday night. They looted the trunk of Janitor Sundwald Clause in the Swedish Methodist Church on Temple street on Sunday night after services. They have broken into two other stores in the West End.

FELLS ROBBER WHO THREATENS TO SHOOT HIM

LYNN, Nov. 13.—Refusing to be intimidated by a man who was pointing a revolver at him and threatening to shoot him unless he let go of the man whom he held in his grasp, Charles J. Rich of No. 134 Boston street, this city, succeeded in landing his prisoner in the station house finally and also was instrumental in causing the arrest of the man who threatened to shoot him. The affair was attended with lots of excitement, during which a pickaxe handle was wielded by Rich to good advantage.

Rich discovered two men, who afterward turned out to be Joseph Howard and Melvin Stevens, attempting to steal the family wash from the clothes lines in his back yard. He rushed out at the men. Instead of making an escape they closed in on him and Stevens grabbed him. Howard threatened to shoot Rich. The latter picked up the pickaxe handle and managed to give Howard such a terrific blow with it that he fell unconscious.

Then Stevens released his hold on Rich and ran away. Rich dragged the unconscious man out of the yard, down the street and into Hospital square, where he turned him over to a police officer. Howard was not revived until after he had been taken to the station, and then he was so dazed that it was at first difficult to make him talk.

Later he gave his name and said he came from Chicago. It was on the strength of information from Howard that the police were able to locate Melvin Stevens, twenty years old, of this city, formerly a United States marine, in a Central avenue lodging house.

KISSED PRETTY GIRL SHOPPERS; ADMITS GUILT

Special to the Boston American.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Nov. 13.—Henry M. Tucker, a Civil War veteran and the proprietor of an antique shop on Bow street, pleaded guilty today to the charge of having kissed Miss Alice M. Spinney, a nineteen-year-old girl of Newington, while she was in his store making a purchase. He was arraigned in the Police Court. Sentence was reserved.

The Spinney girl told the police that she asked Tucker the price of a pair of shoes. She said he told her that she could have them for a kiss. "I don't kiss married men," replied Miss Spinney, and Tucker replied by saying that he was not married, at least his wife was dead. Then, according to Miss Spinney, he put his arms around her and kissed her.

Tucker admitted having kissed her. His testimony differed from hers in that he declared that Miss Spinney put her face up to his to receive the kiss.

Miss Spinney is very pretty and very popular in Newington.

'RED DEVILS' AND 'TIP CARTS' WAR TO DEATH

Trees, fences, wagons and every bit of available advertising space in Ward 20, Dorchester, are being covered with an array of campaign posters that are among the liveliest that the district—political hotbed that it is—has ever seen.

"Punish the Traitors who Knifed Congressman O'Connell" is the slogan posted in giant type by the Congressman's "Red Devil" supporters.

"Repudiate the man responsible for the action of the Springfield convention" is the advertisement proclamation of the anti-O'Connell "Tip Carts."

Daniel T. O'Connell, former Mayor Fitzgerald's first secretary, and brother of the Congressman, heads the ticket which the "Red Devils" are seeking to elect as the ward's representatives in the Democratic City Committee of 1909.

William J. Power heads the "Tip Cart" ticket for ward committee. Patrick H. Kelley heads the same faction's municipal delegation ticket.

SOMERVILLE HOME LOOTED BY THIEVES

A burglary in which three men are supposed to have taken part at the home of W. S. Farrar, No. 12 Adams street, Winter Hill, Somerville, last Friday night, has just come to light. Mr. Farrar's family were away during the evening. When they returned the house was found in topsy turvey condition. Every bureau drawer was overturned on the floor and the contents of the closets were strewn about the room. In the dining room valuables worth $450 were piled up. Jewelry valued at $50 is missing.

MAN KILLED BY HARVARD BOYS' AUTO

WRENTHAM, Nov. 13.—An automobile containing four Harvard students, No. 13,367, ran over and killed a man on the state road two miles from the centre of the town shortly before 2 a. m. to-day.

The man, Alexander Poudrier of Manville, R. I., in company with his helper, was walking behind a large moving wagon bound for Providence. The automobile frightened the horses, causing them to jump to one side, and Poudrier stepped out from behind the team to see what the trouble was.

The auto, going slowly, struck the man, knocked him down and injured him so badly that he died at the residence of Dr. J. F. Jenckes a half-hour later. Dr. Bragg, medical examiner, viewed the body and ordered its removal to his home. Poudrier was about fifty years of age, and left a family.

Later in the morning the wagon was overturned in front of Dr. Jenckes's residence, badly wrecking it and destroying some of the furniture.

FRIDAY, 13TH, TAKES A RAP AT T WHARF

Cap'n Glass and Martin Sheehan First to Feel the Edge of Hard Luck.

With Cap'n Tom Glass and Watchman Martin Sheehan already in the hospital, T Wharf is wondering what more Friday the thirteenth is to do to its fishermen.

Cap'n and Martin were scoffers, and now look at 'em. There isn't a skipper or a sailor nervy enough now to say he's not superstitious.

Cap'n Glass came tripping sturdily down Atlantic avenue at 1:30 a. m., heading for the Eastern packet pier between T and Commercial wharves. He was to take his schooner, the Hattie Knowlton, out at 2 o'clock.

As he came onto the packet pier Sheehan hailed him:

"Mornin', Cap'n; watch out goin' aboard. It's Friday the thirteenth."

"Huh!" said Cap'n Glass. "I'm not superstitious." Saying which the skipper swung himself jauntily from the edge of the packet pier onto the mainmast stays. A ratline broke and down the skipper splashed into the cold harbor waters, catching a stiff blow in the side on the schooner rail as he went down.

"Better Look Out Yourself."

At this point "McGuinness" McCarthy showed up as usual. He is called "McGuinness" because that isn't his name. He is salesman for a bathhouse, and has saved enough lives at T wharf to earn a whole cabinet of medals. "McGuinness" has an almost unholy faculty of being on the job when help is wanted.

He came along by the pier as Cap'n Glass went down. Jumping to the deck of the Hattie Knowlton he leaned over the rail and grabbed the spluttering skipper of the Knowlton. Cap'n Glass was so knocked out by his blow on the schooner rail that he had to be sent to the relief station.

Just as the ambulance was taking Glass away, Watchman Sheehan said, sympathetically, "Told you so, Cap'n."

"Umph!" snorted Glass; "better look out for your own self."

The Fall Was a Hard One

Sheehan went back to T Wharf, stepped on a slippery bolt head and went down with a jar that shook the wharf. Sheehan weighs 250 pounds, and fell hard. Also he hit his head on the edge of the [illegible] and cut himself a nasty gash.

Hardly had the ambulance brought Cap'n Glass to the Relief Hospital when it was called back for Sheehan. The watchman, with his cut bleeding freely, arrived at the hospital just as the "casualty" doctor was looking over Glass.

"Martin," said Cap'n Glass solemnly, "I told you to be careful."

Meanwhile T wharf men are pussy-footing about, wondering who gets it next.

STANDARD OIL PLANS GIGANTIC NEW REFINERY

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—The Standard Oil Company has planned to throw open on January 1, within half an hour's ride of Broadway, a secretly constructed oil refinery, which, when completed will be the largest in the world. More than 5,000 workers expect to secure immediate employment there, but the ultimate force will be 10,000.

Even now, when eleven of the thirty-three great storage tanks for crude oil have been connected with the Philadelphia branch pipe line, tapping the Pennsylvania oil regions, when sixty of the vast stills and condensers have been completed, when one railroad line has been tapped and great docks along the water front are under construction, with the wooden shacks of the construction gangs being replaced rapidly by the permanent brick shops for mechanics, definite announcement of its plans is still withheld at No. 26 Broadway.

The Bay Way Refineries Company is the name of the mammoth oil industrial establishment which promises to eclipse Gary, the wonderful new city built by the steel trust upon the shores of Lake Michigan.

It is located at and for hundreds of acres around the little junction of Bay Way, N. J., about two miles south of Elizabeth.

MURPHY HURT WHEN CAR HIT CARRIAGE

William Murphy, seventeen, of No. 452 East Seventh street, South Boston, is suffering to-day from multiple bruises and shock as a result of the collison between the carriage in which he was riding and an inward bound Blue Hill avenue electric car, at the corner of Columbia road and Blue Hill avenue, Dorchester. The buggy was driven by C. E. Holt of No. 528 Fourth street, South Boston. Holt escaped injury.

Murphy was taken to the City Hospital.

LITTLE SON FOR CORTELYOU

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—Mrs. George B. Cortelyou, the wife of the Secretary of the Treasury, gave birth to a son last night.

FISHERMEN IN DORY DRIFT AT SEA FOR HOURS

PROVINCETOWN, Nov. 13.—After being lost in the fog and drifting in a small dory for twenty-eight hours four Boston fishermen were rescued by the schooner Lizzie, Captain Johnson, bound for Halifax. The men arrived in Provincetown today aboard the schooner Nattaline Nelson, Captain Larkin, to which they were transferred in mid-ocean.

The men are Thomas Adams, Daniel Kerrigan, Benjamin Thomas and John Haskell.

They were attached to the fishing schooner Elizabeth Silsby from Boston and were fishing in a dory of Highland Light, twenty miles from Provincetown, when the fog shut down on them Tuesday morning. They tried to make their way back to the fishing schooner by means of horns. They had no water and no food in the dory. When the fog settled down it became very cold. They drifted in the dory until Wednesday afternoon when the fog lifted. Soon after they sighted the schooner Lizzie, which answered their signals and picked them up.

PRIZE DANCING AT THE COLUMBIA

"Society" dancing was given for the edification of the big audience at the Columbia last night, when several young couples took possession of the stage after the regular show and tripped airily and gracefully through innumerable glides and two-steps. All sections of the city were represented, and after a close decision Jack Cohen and Miss Lizzie Denning were awarded first money. Jack Everett of Charlestown had for his partner Miss Annie Kane, and they were rewarded with the second prize. Third prize went to Frank Leonard and Miss Bessie McDermott.

15 HURT AS TROLLEY CAR JUMPS TRACK

ORANGE, Nov. 13.—Three were seriously injured and twelve more shaken up, cut and bruised early this morning when a big, double-truck vestibule suburban car of the Athol & Orange street railway jumped the rails in Main street, near Eddy street, and stopped on the edge of a ten-foot embankment.

The injured are:

Mrs. J. E. Smalling, thirty years old, of Athol. Badly cut about head and internal injuries. Treated by a physician and taken home.

Carl Beals, seventeen years old, of Main street, Orange. Head cut and suffering from shock, possible concussion of brain. Taken home.

Clarence Burns, eighteen years old, of Main street, Orange. Legs severely cut, face bruised and internal injuries. Taken home.

The car was bound from Athol to Orange and was running at about twenty miles an hour when it left the track. The officials refuse to give any reason for the accident, but it is believed one of the rails on a sleeper, improperly tamped, sank under the heavy load. The car stopped with a jolt and Beals and Mrs. Smalling were thrown from their seats in the extreme rear of the car clear to the front end. Beals was catapulted clear over the seats. Mrs. Smalling was carrying an infant and in her efforts to protect it received more severe injuries herself. The child escaped with no greater injury than a severe frightening.

The car after leaving the rails ploughed along the track for twenty feet and finally came to a stop on the edge of the bank.

Below the place is an open marshy field, and had the car finished its plunge it would have been dashed to pieces and its passengers far more seriously hurt, if not killed. The line was tied up for an hour.

SHAW WARNS LODGE-CRANE COMBINATION

He Will Oppose Their Man for State Treasurer if He Loses the Senate Fight.

Senator Elmer A. Stevens of Somerville to-day quietly told his friends that United States Senators Lodge and Crane have promised him their support for the Republican nomination for State Treasurer next year in return for his withdrawal from the Senate presidency contest in favor of Senator Allen T. Treadway of Stockbridge, the Lodge-Crane candidate.

News of Stevens's disclosure reached No. 8 Congress street, where Senator James F. Shaw of Manchester is directing his own fight for president of the Senate, shortly before noon to-day. Shaw immediately went to the Republican State Committee's headquarters in the Kimball building and announced to Executive Secretary Groves and a quartet of newspaper reporters that he would fight Stevens for the Treasurer nomination if Lodge and Crane succeed in electing Treadway.

Shaw entered the State Committee's headquarters at 11.54 a. m. It took less than a minute for him to deliver his announcement. Senior United States Senator Lodge entered at 11.55 a. m. Exit Shaw at a fraction of a second after 11.55 a. m. He and the senior Senator didn't even exchange a "good morning."

MRS. McCLINTOCK TESTIFIES

That Munyon's Rheumatism Remedy Cured Her

"AGE NO IMPEDIMENT"

Mrs. Mary A. McClintock, of 1662 Spring Garden street, says: "I consider Munyon's 3X Rheumatic Remedy the safest and best cure for rheumatism ever offered a suffering public. I have been afflicted with the most painful and distressing rheumatism imaginable for upwards of three years. I was so bad with it that I suffered agony when I was moved. It affected me in a shoulder and neck, and nothing gave me relief. When I was lifted up in the mornings I screamed with pain. I got a bottle of Munyon's Rheumatism Remedy and began taking it. I took the pellets every hour and the second day I felt relieved. I have now taken but one bottle and every phase of pain has left my back and limbs, and I feel that it will never return. I am in my seventy-[illegible] year and can positively say that age is no impediment to the wonderful curative powers of Munyon's Remedies.

Baby Laugh

It belongs to health for a baby to eat and sleep, to laugh and grow fat.

But fat comes first; don't ask a scrawny baby to laugh; why, even his smile is pitiful! Fat comes first.

The way to be fat is the way to be healthy.

OLYMPIC BOARD DENY CHARGES OF AMERICANS

LONDON, Nov. 13.—The Amateur Athletic Association, under the auspices of which the Olympic games were held this year, today gave out an official answer to the charges made by the American officials of the unfairness in the conduct of these games.

In answer to the charge that the English drew heats to suit themselves, the association says: "The American members of the Comite d'Honneur twice wrote to ask the method of drawing the preliminary heats and were fully informed. They were drawn in the usual manner, and in the presence and with the assistance of R. S. Weeks, an American member of the Comite, with the exception of the draw for the team race and the Marathon."

The charge that "some of the officials actually swore at our men" is declared to be "absolutely untrue."

Says Carpenter "Bored."

The greatest part of the reply is taken up with the matter of the disqualification of J. C. Carpenter, in the 400-metre race, after he had finished ahead of W. C. Robbinson of America and Lieutenant Halswelle, the English favorite. The answer says that the Englishmen did not interfere in any way with Taylor, the American negro runner in this race.

The Association presents the signed evidence of half a dozen officials to substantiate the claims that Carpenter "bored" Halswelle.

Deny Hayes Was Hit.

The statements that Andrews and Surgeon, two of the Englishmen, struck John J. Hayes, winner of the Marathon, as he was nearing the tape, is characterized as a "disgraceful falsehood."

The shoes worn by the English team in the tug-of-war are defended in this language: "The English team had in some instances heel tips, but these were sunk level with the leather and are clearly permissible. There were no prongs at the toes, and the boots worn absolutely complied with the conditions of the contest."

To the charge that the officials were the most prejudiced and unfair in the world, the association replies: "As ample reply to this is the fact that no protest or objection as to the conduct of the games was made by any other of the twenty nations." The acceptance of the entry of Tom Longboat, the Canadian, is defended.

Do you? Five hundred dollars in cash prizes will be given away in the BOSTON SUNDAY AMERICAN Handwriting Contest. Open to all school children under sixteen. See the SUNDAY AMERICAN for particulars.

3600 FAMOUS— —MEN'S SHIRTS

Sold in Every High Grade Men's Furnishing Store in New England States at $2.00 and $2.50 Each Offered in Absolutely the Greatest Sale of Men's Furnishings in Our Career at 95c.

We are restricted from using the name, for a good, sound reason. Men's furnishing stores cannot sell these shirts for less than $2.00 and $2.50 each. The manufacturers decided it would be unfair to these stores to allow Henry Siegel Co. to advertise the name at a lower price. But the omission of the name does not alter the quality of the shirts, so we bought 3,600 of them to sell at 95c. The name is in the neckband of every shirt. You can see it before you buy. On sale today and Saturday.

Read this description—it will convince you that such shirts could not be less than $2.00 and $2.50 values:

3,600 men's negligee shirts, made from fine imported madras, percales and oxford cheviots, including a large variety of choice new designs and color combinations, such as lavender, nile green, blue and black stripes on white grounds, blue grounds with white pin stripes, a large choice of neat jacquard figures, combination novelty effects, medium and dark, including plain and plaited fronts, attached cuffs, coat models. High grade New England-made shirts—the shirts that made Boston famous.

MILLIONAIRE PHIPPS RUSHES TO WIFE'S AID

Pittsburg Man Roused by Attempt on Her Life With Dynamite.

RENEWAL OF HIS OLD LOVE

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 13.—The peril in which Mrs. Genevieve Chandler Phipps was placed through the attempt of Mrs. Allen F. Read of Pittsfield, Mass., to kill her with dynamite, has revived the affection of her divorced husband, Lawrence Cowle Phipps, the Pittsburg millionaire. The actions of Mr. Phipps to-day indicate renewal of this old love.

He has rushed to his former wife's rescue and has had Mrs. Read, who was discharged by the courts, rearrested and again thrown into jail. Phipps's Denver attorney, Gerald Hughes, was instructed by wire by the Pittsburg millionaire to protect his former wife. Phipps insists that the woman's mental condition be thoroughly determined.

Phipps believes with the Denver police that Mrs. Read is the tool of some woman who has secured hypnotic power over her or some strange influence through the administration of a drug which rendered her a dupe.

Police Are Baffled.

The motive which compelled Mrs. Read to demand $20,000 from Mrs. Phipps and to threaten to dynamite her to death if she was refused has puzzled the authorities. Now the police think that when Mrs. Read protested wildly that she was working under the instructions of "Madame Le Roy" that she was telling the truth.

The police believe that Mrs. Read, who is wealthy in her own right, met a woman while journeying Westward, who substituted some drug for the morphia, which they say she was taking, and so made Mrs. Read her tool. Phipps, through his attorney, knows all of this, and he determined for his former wife's sake to have Mrs. Read placed where she can do no more harm.

A dispatch from Chicago adds to the mysteries clustering about Mrs. Read's recent actions. It is charged that she registered at the Auditorium Annex of November 2 and that she secured $20,000 worth of high class bonds on a check. Babcock, Rushton & Company sold the bonds and received a check on a New York bank. Now it is alleged the check was worthless. It is said that she registered under an assumed name and left her hotel bill unpaid.

Followed by Sleuth.

A hotel detective followed her to her train and compelled her, it is said in the Chicago dispatch, to surrender the bonds and pay her hotel bill. She is said to have showed the detectives that she was Mrs. Allen F. Read of Denver.

CHURCH PEWS DROP IN VALUE

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Pews in fashionable Grace Church, on lower Broadway, are not worth what they were before society moved so far uptown.

The Innis estate, owning Pew No. 63, which is one of the most desirable in the famous little church, put the pew up at auction yesterday. It cost the member of the Innis family who purchased it $3,000, but $1,100 was the highest bid yesterday and the high bidder evinced no great anxiety to take title at that figure. So it was withdrawn from auction. There were only two bidders.

RESTORE WANDERING BABY TO HER HOME

Three-year-old Margaret Coughlin of No. [illegible] Antrim street, Cambridge, went out to play yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock and wandered away. She was picked up on Concord avenue, Somerville, about 7:30 o'clock at night, about a quarter of a mile from her home, by a friend of Mrs. Coughlin. Mrs. Coughlin was notified and took the little one home.

PRETTY NURSE THRASHED BY ANGRY WIFE

Blacks Eye of Husband's Friend; Detectives Now After the Husband.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Alleging that her husband had left her to follow Rosalie Wilbert, a professional nurse, who had attended her daughter, Mrs. Frank S. Rutter of No. 421A Lafayette avenue, Brooklyn, has sworn out a warrant for his arrest. Rutter disappeared three weeks ago. With the application for the warrant not only was the nurse's identity made public, but it became known that Mrs. Rutter had gone to the boarding house, Nos. 168 and 170 Hicks street, Brooklyn Heights, and had there beaten Miss Wilbert so severely that she was unable to leave the house for five days.

Miss Wilbert came prominently into the public eye two years ago, when William Bevidge, an actor, then manager of the Spooner Stock Company, shot her at the door of her boarding house in Franklin avenue, Brooklyn.

On her return to the city at the end of the Summer, Mrs. Rutter did some detective work. As a result she went to room No. 25, on the fourth floor of the Hicks street house, which Miss Wilbert occupied.

Screams and crashes alarmed the household. Landlady, boarders and servants ran to Miss Wilbert's room. It required the combined efforts of five women to drag the jealous wife from the woman she blamed for her husband's neglect of his family.

Both of Miss Wilbert's eyes were blackened, her face was cut and scratched and her clothes were torn. After recovering from her injuries she disappeared from the boarding house.

POLICE FIND DYING MAN.

John Rogers of Bridgeport, Ct., is at the City Hospital relief station and likely to die from cerebral hemorrhage, but how it was caused is a mystery to the surgeons there. He was found at Franklin and Purchase streets to-day by a Hanover street station policeman.

POLICE HALT FAIR ONES' TAG DAY HARVEST

Pretty Young Women Descend on Quincy in Interest of "Pembroke Sanitarium."

CHIEF SUSPECTS SCHEME

Special to the Boston American.

QUINCY, Nov. 13.—Fifteen young women, under the chaperonage of one of their sex of middle age, known by them as "Mrs. Burleigh," arrived at Quincy last night and forthwith proceeded to placard the principal thoroughfares and shop windows with the announcement that "to-morrow (meaning to-day) will be tag day for the Pembroke Sanitarium for Consumptives." Mrs. Burleigh had no difficulty in persuading Mayor William F. Shea of the deserving character of the institution which she claimed to represent, and he gave her a permit to canvass the town.

Bright and early this morning the fifteen, some young and pretty, some not quite so young, others well advanced into the mixed gray hairs of middle age, started out. Everybody was held up. Anything was accepted as a donation, and sums of from a cent to a five-dollar bill found their ways into the hands of the taggers. On each contributor they pinned a little red cardboard Maltese cross inscribed "The Tag Day for Pembroke Sanitarium."

The City Hall was a fruitful spot for the pretty young women diplomatically assigned by Mrs. Burleigh to it. She got ex-Mayor Henry O. Fairbanks first, and he chipped in a quarter. To others she explained that she was to get half of what she collected for herself. Then the real donations began.

Chief Frank E. Burrell of the police force did not like the business-like aspect of the scheme, and when he heard that none of the young women were known in the town he made inquiries. He was told that all had been employed in Boston in answer to an advertisement in a newspaper, which asked for "bright, attractive, clever young women for light, easy work."

It was 11 o'clock when the Chief satisfied himself that maybe Mayor Shea had not fully understood the character of the collection, and as the Mayor was out of town the Chief took the responsibility of temporarily rescinding the permit. He sent his men out and they stopped further tagging.

By this time the aggregate collections were over $300. The young women all gathered (as if they had been told what to do in case of any interference) at the railroad station, where they said they were waiting for "the boss." The boss, they explained without hesitation, was Mrs. Burleigh.

Circulars which were handed out as describing Pembroke Sanitarium give Dr. H. D. Fontaine as the physician in charge of that institution.

AUSTRIAN NOBLE FINDS LOST SON

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 13.—The long lost son of Dr. Joseph Loewy, privy councillor to Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria, has been located in Oakland. Last Monday the Los Angeles Examiner published a letter written by Dr. Loewy to the clerk at the Lankershim Hotel, asking him to find his son. Schroeder has received a letter from Oakland, California, signed by the son, who said he had read the article and that he had made up his mind to return to Austria.

What glasses are to weak eyes, Cascarets are to weak bowels. Old people constantly need them, and the need is a natural one—

You old people—Cascarets are particularly for y[illegible]

You who don't exercise as much as you used to. You who like the easy chair.

You whose steps are slow, and whose muscles are less elastic. You must realize that your bowels have also become less active.

They need this gentle help every day.

Don't regard Cascarets as physic.

They stimulate the bowels just as some foods will do; just as exercise would do, if you took enough of it.

They are not harsh, like salts and cathartics.

The help which they give to weak bowels is just as natural and gentle as the spur of youth.

When eyes grow dim, you help them.

Do the same with the bowels when age makes them less active. There is nothing more important.

Costive bowels mean that decaying food is clogged there. And the ducts of the bowels suck its poisons into the blood.

You can't feel well until this is corrected.

But do it gently—not with a bowel irritant. And do it regularly—one Cascaret a day.

Coax the weak bowels—don't drive them.

Cascarets are candy tablets. They are sold by all druggists, but never in bulk. Be sure you get the genuine, with CCC on every tablet. The price is 50c, 25c and

'GIRL IN COMA AWAKENS, EATS, SLEEPS AGAIN

Special to the Boston American.

LOWELL, Nov. 13.—After thirteen days of unbroken sleep, Miss Luciana Piette, of No. 12 Ward street, woke up for a few minutes during the night and had a brief conversation with her mother and sister, after which she turned over, saying, "Mother, I'm awfully sleepy," and was again peacefully slumbering. The "sleeping girl," as she has come to be known, was awake for about four minutes, during which time her mother gave her a drink of milk. To-day she was sleeping again.

To a BOSTON AMERICAN reporter the girl's mother said: "I knew that God would wake her. This brief awakening is an instance of His power, and I am sure that He will soon wake my daughter for good.

"My other daughter and I were in an adjoining room. We heard a rustling in the bedroom, and going in there lay Luciana with her eyes wide open. It thrilled me through and through, for I thought my dear child was at last awake. I asked her how she felt and she said that she felt all right. I asked her if she would like to have a glass of milk, and she replied that she would. I went out and got the milk and she drank it with a relish. Shortly after Luciana turned over, saying that she was awfully sleepy. Then she went to sleep again. I am sure that she will soon wake up."

Naphtha Loosens The Dirt.

Soap cleans. That is how P. & G. Naphtha Soap does its work.

The naphtha in it, by loosening the dirt, makes it easy for the soap to do the work it is intended to do—cleanse.

P. & G. Naphtha Soap would clean just as thoroughly as it does, if it contained no naphtha at all; but it would take more time and more work.

Naphtha and good soap make an ideal combination—a combination that does away with half the work and practically all the discomfort of wash day; and makes it possible for a woman to do as much work in 4 or 5 hours as now takes twice that long.

Boiling of clothes, with all its attendant annoyances, is a thing of the past with women who use P. & G. Naphtha Soap. So is nine-tenths of the hard work over the wash-board.

P. & G. Naphtha Soap 5 cents a cake.

Double Legal Stamps will be given with every purchase mornings until 12 o'clock noon at Wolf's, "My Clothier," corner Hanover and Portland streets. Single stamps thereafter.

Policeman Who Is Running For Mayor of Lowell

Patrolman George H. Brown.

PATROLMAN WINS IN FIGHT WITH CHIEFS

LOWELL, Nov. 13.—Ducking the issue with all the cleverness of a diplomat, Patrolman George H. Brown changed his mind and appeared to-day before the police board to answer its summons to explain certain alleged utterances of his in his canvass for the nomination for Mayor.

Before he went into the meeting Superintendent William B. Moffatt ordered him to get into his uniform. He refused [illegible], saying he was on leave of absence.

Chairman Frank K. Stearns of the board asked one question when Brown appeared.

"Did you say that 'there is no promotion for an honest man in the police department—that——'"

"I want to explain," interrupted Brown.

"Did you say it, yes or no?"

"No."

"Change in the Tense."

The board then went into executive session. To the reporters Brown explained that his interrupted explanation would have told just what he had said.

"I used the past tense, that's the only difference. What I said on the stump and what I say now is that there had been no promotion for an honest man in the police department."

After the hearing the police board went into executive session and following a two-hour conference issued the following statement:

"Patrolman George H. Brown appeared before the board of police this morning and in public session denied that he had made the statement quoted in the Courier-Citizen Thursday, Nov. 12, to the effect that 'there is no promotion for the honest man in the police department.' Therefore, the board voted to restore his leave of absence and will continue the same until Wednesday, November 18."

Officer Brown will make a whirlwind automobile tour of the city to-night, speaking in six places. To a BOSTON AMERICAN reporter he said:

"I do not propose to be interfered with by anyone in my campaign for the nomination of Mayor, and if I am interfered with I shall go to the district attorney and demand protection from such interference. If nominated next Tuesday I shall resign from the police department."

SIGLIANO'S NAME STAYS ON BALLOT

Joseph Sigliano's name will remain on the ballot as a candidate for the Common Council nomination from Ward 6. This is the decision of the Ballot Law Commission. Alfred Seigliano protested, claiming that Sigliano is not the right family name of the other candidate, because his brothers are known as Cirigliano.

'THE FIGHTING HOPE' DAILY IN THE AMERICAN

"The Fighting Hope," the novel of fascinating, gripping interest by Miss Blanche Bates, the famous actress, is to be printed serially hereafter in the daily editions of the BOSTON AMERICAN and in the BOSTON SUNDAY AMERICAN.

Miss Bates has based her novel on William J. Hurlbut's powerful American drama of love and high finance now playing under the same name in New York.

It deals most pertinently with a present day subject. As the vivid story unfolds and the plot is revealed there are brought to the minds of the reader a group of people and a series of events in real life, such as have just figured in one of the most extraordinary news events of recent years.

Without actually paralleling names, the source of the plot and characters are readily open to those familiar with current matters in high finance.

Coincident with the financial portion of the novel is a love drama of absorbing interest.

The first installment of "The Fighting Hope" was printed in last Sunday's edition of the BOSTON SUNDAY AMERICAN, with the intention of printing it in Sunday installments. Owing to the repeated and numerous requests for the story to be printed in daily installments this plan will be adopted.

In order that the opening installment may be brought fresh to the reader's mind again, it will be reprinted complete in to-morrow (Saturday's) BOSTON AMERICAN.

The second installment will be printed in the next BOSTON SUNDAY AMERICAN. Then the story will be printed serially in the daily and SUNDAY AMERICAN till it has run its course.

Those who did not happen to read the opening number in the last BOSTON SUNDAY AMERICAN can read it to-morrow, thus starting fresh with the story.

BAR 10 FROM SCHOOL TEAM

Because of low marks in their studies ten members of the Revere High School football team have been barred from taking part in all athletic events by Principal Frank P. Morse.

This announcement, made to-day, caused much disappointment among the several hundred pupils of the school. Most of the best players on the team are among the suspended players. This leaves only seven men eligible to play on the team, two of whom are substitutes. As a result the team is crippled and it is probable that no more games will be played this season.

The game scheduled for to-day with the high school alumni was cancelled.

RARE OPERATION SAVES CHILD'S LIFE

Dr. George V. Buehler, senior surgeon of the Cambridge Relief Hospital, saved the life of William Roberts, a ten-months-old infant, last night, by taking a chance and performing the operation of tracheotomy to prevent the infant from choking to death. The baby had a small chicken bone, an inch long, lodged in its windpipe. There was one chance in a hundred against the child, owing to its extreme youth. Dr. Buehler had the operation done, a silver tube inserted in the child's trachea, and normal breathing restored, and [illegible] extracted the bone. In a few days the baby will be fully recovered.

When she was ready to leave the church the young woman missed her handbag, containing $16. She rushed to the street and saw the man running away. He was not captured.

SEEK MAN OF 52 ALIASES

CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—And still the paroled convict manages to make matters exciting for the police. They are looking for Robert A. Harvey, a person with fifty-two aliases, who has served three terms in the penitentiary and was paroled a couple of years ago. At different stages of his career he has worked as journalist, printer, publisher, painter and preacher.

All that is necessary for the police to do is to apprehend him and the Royal Trust Company, on whose bank more than fifty checks have already been presented and pronounced worthless, will do the rest.

WHAT TO WEAR TO THE GAME

The Washington street vestibule windows of A. Shuman & Co. are decorated appropriately for the Harvard-Dartmouth football game. About everything that the football enthusiast requires in furnishings for attending the game is displayed in the colors of the two teams. The north window is given to Dartmouth. In it are displayed green sweaters, green banners, green rugs, green neckwear and green hosiery. Life-sized figures of a girl and a man, dressed for the game, add to the effect of the display.

The south window is Harvard's, with everything crimson and with two life-size figures dressed as if they had just reached the Stadium to cheer the Cambridge boys.

In both windows are large pictures of leading members of both teams in action. The windows are attracting the general attention of shoppers.

When to Use Dr. Williams' PINK PILLS

These pills were originally a prescription used in the doctor's private practice and their benefit to mankind has been increased many thousand fold by their being placed on general sale with the doctor's own directions for use. They are entirely safe and contain no opiates or other habit-forming drugs.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the remedy to use when the blood is thin as in anæmia; or impure, as in rheumatism; or when the nerves are weak, as in neuralgia; or lifeless, as in partial paralysis; or when the body as a whole is ill nourished, as in general debility. They build up the blood, strengthen the nerves and have cured troubles of women and growing girls and many forms of weakness. That hundreds of people have tried the treatment with good results is shown by the increasing number of cures reported.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists or will be sent postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes, $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

'CANNED NOISE' IS SET LOOSE IN BACK BAY

Mrs. Isaac L. Rice Shows How Hub Like Gotham Endures Unnecessary Din.

SOCIETY LEADERS' GUEST

Brands of Noise Which Deafen the Ears of Bostonians

Tooting of train and steamboat whistles and sirens.

Buzz of locomotive steam exhaust.

Clanging of gongs on trolley cars and engines.

Yelling by newsboys.

Rumbling of wagons on hard pavements.

Harsh automobile sirens.

Crash of trolley wheels on street crossings.

Rattling of loose windows in electric and steam trains.

Shouting of teamsters and milkmen early in the morning.

Yells and screams of children at play.

Playing phonographs at open window.

If when you pass the Hotel Vendome this afternoon you hear a tremendous din which resembles that of a boiler shop drowning out the shrieks of an army of newsboys and the blasts of sixteen engine whistles, with two or three dog fights thrown in, don't get alarmed, and don't think you "have 'em."

It's just Mrs. Isaac L. Rice unloading a huge cargo of canned noise imported from New York to show Boston in general and the Professional Woman's Club in particular how unnecessary most brands of noise are.

By means of a phonograph Mrs. Rice will demonstrate what a veritable bedlam of sounds Gotham endured before she started her anti-noise crusade and canned all the din and brought it over to set ringing the ears of the Hub.

Don't Get Alarmed.

With a notable gathering of prominent society women present, all the deafening uproar that is—or rather was—heard in lower Broadway or in the harbor on a foggy morning is set loose in the fashionable Back Bay hostelry.

The police of Station 16 were tipped off so that there would be no danger of a riot call being sounded, but the uninitiated pedestrians, it was feared, might wonder what had broken loose inside the Vendome, hence this explanation.

Mrs. Rice used to live in a $500,000 mansion up on Riverside Drive, and she made it noise proof. But that was after she had been driven nearly to distraction by the great endurance contests entered into by hundreds of steam whistles and sirens on steamers, tug boats and ferries on the North River opposite her palatial residence.

Hospitals Now Have Quiet.

Here the Society for the Suppression of Noise, which might aptly be called the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to the Human Race, had its inception. The organization has done some remarkably good work in suppressing unnecessary noises. It began by sending a monster petition to the New York authorities calling for the ridding of the metropolis of uncalled for sounds. One result has been the posting of notices near every hospital in the city, reading "Hospital Zone; Be Quiet Under Penalty of the Law, etc."

Having accomplished much reform in New York, Mrs. Rice now carries her humanitarian anti-noise crusade into Boston, and it is probable that the Professional Woman's Club will take up the work in earnest.

SURRENDERS TO FALL RIVER POLICE

FALL RIVER, Nov. 13.—Antone Augustus, formerly supreme treasurer of St. Michael's Beneficent Society, who disappeared in September last, leaving an alleged shortage of about $1,000 in the accounts of the society, walked into the Central Police Station and surrendered himself. He said that he had been in South America.

There are warrants against him charging larceny and forgery of the name of another officer of the society, and he will be arraigned in the District Court to-day. His wife and a family of small children live in this city.

HELD UP CHURCH TO SAVE A BABE

GUTHRIE, Okla., Nov. 13.—James Williamson, who is homesteading a claim on [illegible] Creek, dug a well twenty-two feet deep and eight inches square, then [illegible] Sunday.

His eighteen-month-old baby backed into the hole and shot to the bottom, feet first.

The people of the community were holding religious services when Williamson hailed the preacher and told of the accident.

Every man in the congregation went to the Williamson home and worked until the child was rescued.

Baby Williamson was not at all hurt, but very hungry.

HER FACE DYED BY HAIR FLUID

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 13.—Suit for $10,000 has been started against a drug company by Mrs. [illegible] Rember, who alleges she was much disfigured by the use of a bottle of "walnut juice hair stain," which she purchased to improve her appearance that she might win back her husband.

Mrs. Rember is forty and her husband but twenty-eight. Last June he sued for divorce. Then Mrs. Rember bought the hair dye. She alleges that the fluid stained her face brown, caused eruptions, injured her scalp and affected her eyesight and hearing. Hubby remained cold.

LIGORASI GOES ON STAND IN SCOTT TRIAL

AUBURN, Me., Nov. 13.—Declaring that he was drunk and asleep by a bonfire while Nicholas Mone and James Scott were alone together in the Whittemore barn, Pascale Ligorasi, charged jointly with Mone with the murder of Scott, testified today for the State in the trial now in progress in the Supreme Court here.

Ligorasi told of seeing Mone and Scott enter the old barn. He never saw Scott after that. Mone was in the barn about an hour. Then, according to Ligorasi, Mone woke him up and the two drove off together.

"I asked what had become of Scott," said Ligorasi, "and Mone told me that he had decided to remain at the barn and fix his apples, and was then going to see his sweetheart, Jennie Bragan. We hadn't driven far when Mone got out of the wagon and threw some papers into the bushes by an old spring. I asked him what he was doing and he told me it was none of my business."

Jennie Bragan, Scott's sweetheart, of whom Mone was jealous and one of the most important witnesses for the State, lies at the point of death at St. Mary's General Hospital in Lewiston. During the progress of the case she was taken seriously ill. She will undergo an operation.

Describes Killing.

[illegible] Joseph recited an alleged confession by Mone to him the next day after Scott's disappearance. Joseph said, "I saw with my own eyes Scott, Mone and Ligorasi drive away together and a few hours later Mone and Ligorasi returned alone.

"The next day they gave me some watches and razors that I knew belonged to Scott. I asked where Scott was and they told me that they had killed him and described the killing. Mone told me how he grabbed Scott by the neck, while Ligorasi threw the rope around it; how Scott begged for his life and told them he thought they were his friends. He offered, Mone said, to give them everything he possessed if they would only spare his life, so he could go back once more to his native country and see his poor old mother. While Scott was still pleading for his life his hands were tied behind his back, his feet tied together and then the slip noose about his neck was drawn tight, strangling the last breath of life from his body. The body was then dragged several rods and thrown under an old sheep pen floor.

"When Mone told these things he said 'don't tell a word of this for that would destroy me.' He then gave me some razors and other goods that had belonged to Scott."

Ligorasi on Stand.

Trembling and white, Pascale Ligorasi took the witness stand in his own defence.

He said: "Mr. Scott and Mone got two quarts of whiskey and late in the afternoon of November 15, 1907, drove to the Whittemore farm, where Scott had some apples stored. On the way up me and Scott took a few drinks. Mone did not drink. When we got there it was pretty cold and I built a bonfire by an old wall while Mone and Scott went into the barn. I sat down by the fire and pretty soon was asleep. The next I knew Mone waked me up. We started home. I asked him where Scott was and he said he was going to stay there and fix his apples and then was going over to see his girl. When we got down the road a little ways Mone got out of the wagon and threw some papers in the bushes by an old spring. I asked him what he was doing and he said, 'None of your business.'"

Mone declares that Ligorasi is lying and wants to convict him out of revenge.

'TOM LAWSON' BROKE ON 13TH, PINCHED IN N. Y.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Wearing a horse show chrysanthemum and dressed in the height of fashion, a young man of twenty-two entered the Hotel Breslin, Twenty-ninth street and Broadway, early to-day and said:

"I want to use the long distance telephone to Boston."

"Certainly," replied the telephone operator, and she connected the man with Boston.

"I'm Thomas W. Lawson," the man was heard to say over the wire. "I'm in New York and at the Hotel Breslin. I happen to be short of change this morning and wish you would send me some money."

The telephone operator had read Thomas W. Lawson's "Friday the Thirteenth," but she had never seen the author of that book and "Frenzied Finance." She was interested and wondered if the millionaire from Boston had really gone broke on Friday the thirteenth.

A few minutes later Manager James J. Curran of the hotel, was called up from Boston.

"What does that guy look like that says he's Tom Lawson?" Mr. Curran was asked. The man in Boston was not a real Bostonian. He was just a policeman.

Mr. Curran described his man as twenty-two, tall, of athletic build, etc.

"That's the guy we are looking for," came over the wire from Boston. "Pinch him."

The man was then "pinched" and taken to police headquarters, where he described himself as Hobart Carter, twenty-two, a chauffeur, living at No. 849 Seventh avenue. He owes $2.40 telephone tolls and the charge against him was violating a hotel ordinance. The Boston police say they want him on other charges.

WOMAN TROLLEY VICTIM.

LOWELL, Nov. 13.—Mrs. Susan Sweeney, aged about sixty years and living in Woburn, is in a precarious condition at St. John's Hospital. She was struck by an electric car at [illegible] Corner, Billerica. Both legs were crushed.

DOCTOR ADVISED USE OF CUTICURA

After Other Treatment Failed—Eczema In Raw Spot on Baby Boy's Face Lasted for Months—Cried with Pain when Washed.

ECZEMA WAS CURED AND HAS NEVER REAPPEARED

"Our baby boy broke out with eczema on his face when one month old. One place on the side of his face the size of a nickel was raw like beefsteak for three months, and he would cry out when I bathed the parts that were sore and broken out. I gave him three months' treatment from a good doctor, but at the end of that time the child was no better. Then my doctor recommended Cuticura. After using a cake of Cuticura Soap, a third of a box of Cuticura Ointment, and half a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent he was well and his face was as smooth as any baby's. He is now two years and a half old and no eczema has reappeared. I am still using the Cuticura Soap; I think it is the finest toilet soap I ever used. I keep my little girl's hair and face cleansed with it too. I am so thankful for what Cuticura has done for us. Mrs. M. L. Harris, R. F. D. 1, Alton, Kan., May 14 and June 12, '07."

SAVES ACTRESS FROM GRAVE IN POTTER'S FIELD

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Miss Lorrain Dreux, once leading woman for the famous English actor, Beerbohm Tree, is dead of pneumonia in a private room at Bellevue Hospital. She was saved from a charity cot and probably a pauper's grave in Potter's Field only by as dramatic a coincidence as she ever portrayed upon the stage. She was lately a member of a Worcester, Mass., stock company.

Last Friday night Jean Keller, a theatrical manager, who lives at No. 228 West Thirty-ninth street, was approaching his home when a woman, who appeared to be ill, approached him. She was trembling violently and walking slowly and uncertainly. They passed under an electric light.

"Lorrain Dreux," Keller exclaimed in amazement as he saw her face. She stared at him then gasped, "Jean Keller."

Appeals to Old Friend.

He was the one old friend she had in all the city of New York, the only one, in fact, that she would have appealed to for aid. But she had not known he was here, and the meeting was a chance in a four million. They had had a disagreement over a business matter a couple of years ago and had not heard of each other in that time, though each regretted the quarrel.

"Save me, Jean," Miss Dreux begged. "I'm sick and tired out and I haven't a cent or a place to lay my head."

Keller assisted the actress to his home, and with the kindly aid of other women in the house made her as comfortable as possible while he secured a doctor.

"She hasn't much of a chance," the physician said. "She has pneumonia in an advanced stage."

But if she hadn't been cared for she might have died on the street by morning. Keller knew the woman's early history. She was a daughter of Colonel John Dreux, a wealthy Texas ranchman; was educated in England and there joined the Beerbohm Tree company.

A couple of weeks ago she was engaged to head a stock company in Rochester, but when she arrived there she was refused the position, she said, because she could not afford to buy an elaborate gown necessary for her part.

Then she returned to New York penniless and ill.

SOUNDS PRAISES OF ENGLISH WORKMEN

MANILA, Nov. 13.—Twelve battleships of the Atlantic fleet are now engaged in target practice and the remaining four will soon join the main squadron on the target grounds. The flagship Connecticut will to-morrow inaugurate big gun practice.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—The four-masted schooner Eleanor W. Clark, bound from Savannah for New York, with a cargo of coal, was driven ashore at the East Bank on the main ship channel, near Romer shoals, while beating up the harbor today.

GRANGER BUT 4 VOTES BEHIND IN RECOUNT

PROVIDENCE, Nov. 13.—Intense interest is taken in the recount of the votes polled in the First Congressional district, where the contest is between Congressman Daniel L. D. Granger of Providence, Democrat, and William P. Sheffield of Newport, Republican. The warden's figures gave Mr. Sheffield an apparent plurality of 97, and he was congratulated as having won the congressional seat. But the Democrats demanded a recount and insisted that when the votes of Providence and some other places were gone over it would be found that Congressman Granger had been re-elected. The first day's recount by the State Returning Board showed astonishing gains for Granger. Sheffield lost steadily and when the work was resumed to-day had only four votes lead. He had sustained a net loss of ninety-three. Half of the district has been recounted. The Democrats believe that Granger will gain enough in the districts to be gone over to-day to land him back in Congress.

WILL TELL NEXT WEEK HOW MUCH G. O. P. GOT

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Republican National Chairman Hitchcock has arrived in town for the purpose of closing headquarters. He said that the list of contributors to the campaign fund would be ready for publication when Treasurer George R. Sheldon returns to town next week.

Mr. Hitchcock denied reports that $40,000 of a $50,000 contribution from William Nelson Cromwell had been returned, and also that Mr. Cromwell had notified William H. Taft that he did not care to enter public life.

LEAGUE PLANS FOR VIGOROUS CITY CONTEST

Plans for the municipal campaign were mapped out by the Boston City Committee of the Independence League at a meeting in the headquarters, 218 Old South Building, last night. Every ward committee in the city was represented at the meeting.

Chairman John T. Dobbyn presided. Reports showed that the City Committee is in fine fighting form and the ward committees determined to continue the battle with more vigor than ever. The secretary reported that a complete aldermanic ticket has been filed, a candidate for the nomination for street commissioner placed in the field, papers for candidates for the Common Council, delegates to the city convention and members of the ward committees presented to the Election Commissioners.

Aldermanic district committees were organized, and it was voted that in cases of vacancies on the ticket, through death, sickness or withdrawals, the several ward organizations meet and fill the vacancies. Chairman Dobbyn and Charles O. Power, executive secretary of the State Committee, were invited by formal vote to advise the ward organizations in cases of vacancies.

Mr. Power spoke at some length to the city committee, outlining the plans that the State committee has under consideration for building up the working forces of the party in different sections of the State. He read letters from members of the State organization, all of which were to the effect that the party had received a fine indorsement at the last election despite the many adverse circumstances, and pointing out that all real, sincere Independence Leaguers should feel encouraged to keep up the good work. Mr. Power also outlined a plan for building up the organization in the Boston wards that met with general approval.

A SURPRISED MINISTER

Hyomei Cured Bronchial Catarrh After He Had Given Up in Despair.

"For many years I have been a sufferer from bronchial catarrh, and had despaired of anything like a cure. Judge of my pleasant surprise when I first used Hyomei, which brought complete relief. Hyomei has been a veritable godsend."—Rev. Charles Hartley, Sardinia, Ohio.

There are many readers of the American who are suffering from catarrh, either nasal or bronchial. Many of these despair of ever being cured. They have soaked their stomachs with nostrums until they are disgusted with all medicines, and are now traveling their miserable way, allowing the devilish germs of catarrh to sap them of their health, energy and vitality.

But let us reason together. Jaynes Drug Co. has a guaranteed remedy for catarrh, colds, coughs, bronchitis, croup and all inflammatory diseases of the nose, throat and bronchial tubes. The name of this remarkable remedy is Hyomei, and if it doesn't cure Jaynes Drug Co. will give you your money back.

Hyomei (pronounced High-o-me) is medicated air; you just breathe it through the inhaler over the inflamed and germ ridden membrane, and its soothing, antiseptic properties will allay the inflammation, destroy the germs, and restore the entire respiratory tract to its normal conditions.

A complete Hyomei outfit, including a hard rubber inhaler, costs but $1.00, and an extra bottle of Hyomei, if afterwards needed, costs but 50 cents. See Jaynes Drug Co. about it to-day.

The Spinster-Lady

She Tells of One Kind of Girl That Men Do Not Like

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

"WHAT'S the matter, Nellie?" asked the Spinster Lady, looking searchingly at her young friend's downcast face.

Nellie lifted her troubled blue eyes and answered plaintively: "It's the Thompsons' dinner dance I'm thinking about."

"Well, but surely that is something pleasant to think about, and you look the picture of woe. You are going to it, aren't you? And didn't I hear something about a lovely new gown?"

BEATRICE FAIRFAX

"What good will a new gown do when I'll have a perfectly horrid time?"

The Spinster-Lady looked thoughtfully at her little friend, and said:

"Why will you have a horrid time, Nellie?"

"Because I'll be a wallflower," confessed Nellie, slowly; "that's why."

"There is no reason why you should be a wallflower. You are a pretty girl, and I am sure you dance well. Come along, tell me frankly what the trouble is."

"Oh, I don't know. Other girls seem to have lots of partners, but I'm not going to sit there looking so fresh and eager to dance as some of the girls I know do. There's Kitty L——. She is all the while smile. She fairly asks the men to ask her."

Not Necessary to Run After Men

"I don't think she does, Nellie. She always looks very bright and eager and as though she were ready for a good time, but I really don't believe she is a particle bold or pushing. Perhaps you don't look eager enough."

"I'm not going to run after any man," pouted Nellie.

"But, my dear," said the Spinster-Lady, patiently, "you don't have to run after a man in order to let him know that you appreciate his attentions and enjoy dancing with him. You know, Nellie, a man does not want to go the whole way. He wants to be met with at least friendly interest."

"Then you don't think men are attracted by indifference?"

"No, indeed, I do not, excepting on rare occasions. The great beauty can afford to be more or less indifferent, but even she, if she is wise, knows when to sink indifference to interest.

"At a dance, when a man sees a girl sitting in a sulky indifference as to whether she dances or not, he naturally thinks 'I won't waste a dance on her, she does not look as though she would enjoy it.'

"When you go to a dance, make up your mind that you are going to have a good time. Look pleasant and interested, not coldly and indifferent."

Finds Better Way to Win Them

Here the Spinster-Lady paused for breath, while Nellie gazed thoughtfully out of the window. Then the Spinster-Lady spoke again.

"Nellie," she said, "to-night you are going to a charming dance, and if you take the trouble you can make yourself look very nice. I want you to go in the right frame of mind.

"Greet the men as though they were human beings, and not strangers from some other planet. Get out of yourself, and see if you don't have a good time. In the morning telephone me all about it."

The next morning the telephone bell rang while the Spinster-Lady was at breakfast, and in answer to her "Hello" an ecstatic young voice answered:

"Oh, you dear thing. I had the most heavenly time. I danced every dance, and I'm going for a walk with Phil M—— this afternoon. And I really did not run after any of the men, but I did try to be nice, and——"

Here she paused for lack of breath, and the Spinster-Lady broke in laughingly:

"I told you so, girlie. It's only in novels that men are attracted by indifference."

A WASTE OF MATCHES.

A dear old country gentleman and his wife paid a visit to the seaside. While the simple pair were walking on the beach one evening they suddenly noticed the revolving light of a lightship.

The old lady gazed at it with open eyes for some minutes, then she turned to her husband with a puzzled look.

"Well," she exclaimed, "if the man in that ship hasn't lit that light this forty times, and it has gone out every time!"

The Taj Mahal of India—A Marvelous Structure

By REV. THOS. B. GREGORY

"DID you ever build a castle in the air?" exclaimed the late famous traveler, Bayard Taylor. "Here is one brought down from heaven to earth and fixed for all time for the wonder of the world; yet so light it seems, airy, and when seen from a distance, so like a fabric of mist and sunbeams, with its great dome soaring up, a silvery bubble about to burst in the sun, that, even after you have touched it, and climbed to its summit, you almost doubt its reality."

The reference is to that miracle in stone, that glorious architectural dream—the Taj Mahal of India.

This incomparable building stands on a raised platform eighteen feet high. It is faced with the purest white marble, and is exactly 313 feet square. At each corner rises a minaret 133 feet high and of the most exquisite proportions.

The centre is occupied by the principal dome, fifty-eight feet in diameter and eighty feet in height, the height of the building, from its base to the top of the dome, being 262 feet.

The building is an early example of that system of inlaying with precious stones, which became the great characteristic of the style of the Moguls after the death of Akbar.

All the more important points of the edifice are heightened by being inlaid with precious stones, such as agates, bloodstones, jaspers and the like.

Most Wonderful Architecture

These are combined in wreaths, scrolls and frets, as exquisite in design as they are beautiful in color, and, relieved by the pure white marble in which they are laid, they form the most wonderful style of ornament ever adopted in architecture.

The building shines so dazzlingly in the Oriental sun that one can scarcely look at it near at hand, except in the morning and evening.

Around all the arches of the portals and the windows, around the cornices and the domes, on the walls and in the hallways, are inlaid chapters of the Koran, the letters being beautifully formed of black marble. It is asserted that the whole of the Koran is thus inlaid in the Taj.

The building is perfect in every part. Great as are its dimensions, it is as laboriously finished as one of those Chinese caskets of ivory and ebony which we sometimes see. No words can convey an idea of the perfect harmony of the different parts and the grand and glorious effect of the whole structure upon the beholder's mind.

The dome of the Taj contains an echo more sweet, pure and prolonged than that in the Baptistry of Pisa, which is accounted the finest in Europe.

The history of this celebrated structure is as beautiful as it is unique.

Monument of an Emperor's Love

Shah-Jehan, emperor of Agra, had a wife called Noor-Jehan, "the Light of the World." Noor-Jehan is said to have been one of the most beautiful women ever known, with an intellect as brilliant as her face was beautiful.

Shah-Jehan adored her. She was indeed the "light" of the Emperor's life, and when she died her husband was inconsolable.

He determined that she should be buried in the most beautiful way ever known, and on the banks of the Jumna reared for her tomb that wonderful poem in marble and gems which, while it endures, will continue to attract tourists from all parts of the earth.

It is a tomb such as, it is safe to say, no other mortal has or ever will have.

The sarcophagi—for the Emperor has long rested by the side of his beautiful queen—are directly under the great central dome, and are of the purest marble, exquisitely inlaid with blood-stone, agate, carnelian, lapis lazuli and other precious stones, and surrounded with an octagonal screen six feet high, in the open tracery of which lilies, irises and other flowers are interwrought with the most intricate ornamental designs. This screen is also of marble, covered with precious stones.

Beautiful Symbol of Affection

The only light entering the building is admitted through the door, and falls directly upon the tomb of the queen, as though she was all that the builder was thinking about, all that the beholder needs to think about—Noor-Jehan, "the Light of the World!"

"Let all else rest in the shadow," the spirit of the departed Emperor seems to be saying, "all but the tomb of my beloved, who was more than life to me."

It is no wonder that the Taj Mahal is so beautiful, since it is the creation of Love. Love conceived its glorious outlines, and every one of its innumerable details. From the foundation stones to the topmost point of the wonderful dome, every fragment of it bears the impress of affection.

How could it help being beautiful?

His Pa Makes a Vain Attempt to Get a Horse Show Ribbon, but His Ma Is the Real Winner

THE picter on my slait today is the picter of a horse. The horse is standing in the rain, outside of the Mad. Sq. Garden. The horse beelongs to Pa & cam from Wis-consin & Pa is trying to git it into the horse show.

The way the horse caim to be outside of the Horse Show was a kind of funny thing wich I am going to rite about. Last week Pa caim hoam with a letter wich he had receeved from his cuzzin wich lives in Chippewa Falls, & he was laffing awful hard.

Oh, what a grand chanst for us to cop the blue ribbing, sed Pa. What blue ribbing? sed Ma. The blue ribbing at the horse show, sed Pa. My cuzzin has a horse wich he is going to send down heer rite away, Pa sed, a horse wich ought to win the prize in a walk.

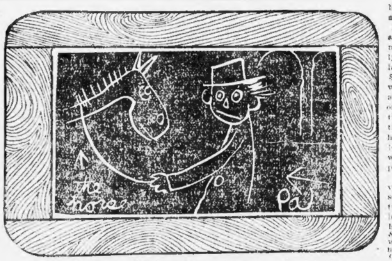
Lester a Grate Hurdler

The naim of this horse, sed Pa, is Lester. He is a full blooded Perch-eron, Pa sed, with a mane like a Shetland Pony & the bild of a thurrubred. He can trot a mile in less than two (2) minnits, Pa sed, & he can run a hundred yards in ten (10) seckonds, & he is a grate hurdler, having went three (3) miles in a steeplechase without falling down moar than once.

The time he fell, he was doing the water jump, & he fell in the water, but his stout hart never failed, Pa sed, & he swam out & finished second. He wud have finished first if thare haddent been so much water in the jockey's boots, Pa sed.

Besides that, Pa sed, this horse Lester is a grate carriage horse. He is so gentel that any woman can drive him, Pa sed, in that respeck much resembling me. He can do the single-foot, the Mary Widow waltz, & the mussel dance, sed Pa.

He can eet moar oats than any horse my cuzzin ever seen, & he can walk on his hind legs down the steps of a Subway, wich is a grate help to the other peopul in rush hours, sed Pa. Oh, this Lester is sum horse.



This picter on my slait is a pic ter of a horse naimed Lester.

You doant tell me, sed Ma. This Lester must be indeed sum horse. I shall be vary pleezed to make the aquaintance of Lester & hoap he will git the blue ribbing.

So yesterday, when Pa got to the house, he caim in & shouted Long live the king of all horses, Lester is here! I am so glad, deer, sed Ma. Is he as nice a horse as yure cuzin says? Nicer, nicer, sed Pa. He is the finest steed wich I ever saw. He can almost talk, sed Pa, & the blue ribbing is ours already.

I must hurry & dress, sed Ma. I had the moast perfeckly luvly hat sent up to the house yesterday, for $80 dollers, & a gown wich will maik them all look at me not once (1), but many times. The whole thing is only three hundred (300) dollers, & yure little wife will maik you proud of her tonite.

Pa dident look vary glad wen Ma sed this, but he tried to look glad & he sed Now I must hurry back downtown & meet Lester. He will worry if I doan't meet him at the Garden befoar the evening sesshun beegins, so Lester & me will meet you & little Bobbie at eight (8) o'clock at the stage entrens, & all of us will go in, & then we will git the blue ribbing. Farewell till this evening, sed Pa, & Pa went away.

Then Ma & me had our dinner & got dressed & we was at Mad. square Garding at eight (8) o'clock, & wen we found the stage enterens, shure enuff thare was Pa & he was holding a horse. It was raining pritty hard, & Pa & the horse was both vary wet, but Ma & me was dry beekaus we had on rain coats.

The horse was a awful skinny looking horse. For the luv of life, sed Ma, is that Lester? Yes, sed Pa, & do you think that plug is going to cop the blue ribbing? sed Ma. Yes, sed Pa. Now let us all go in, sed Pa.

Then a poleeceman caim up & sed Git out of here with that skate. What do you think this is, a street car barn? sed the poleeceman. Git out of here.

I will not move a inch, sed Pa. I am a free American citizen, Pa sed, & I will not go a inch.

Poleecman Maid Pa Beet It

If you want to know why I am heer, sed Pa to the poleeceman, I will inform you that this is the horse wich is going to git the blue ribbing. His naim is Lester, sed Pa, & he knows moar than any poleeceman that I ever saw.

If you doant beet it, sed the poleeceman I will forgit that I am a gent & I will lam you on the hed with this night stick! You will? sed Pa. Yes, I will, sed the poleeceman, and pritty quick, too.

So the poleeceman chased Pa & the horse away from the stage enterens, & Pa took Lester back to the staibel & Ma & me went hoam in the Subway. Ma was awful mad.

When Pa caim hoam he sed to Ma, well, I suppoas you ain't going to speek to me. But Pa dident know Ma. She spoak to him for two (2) hours. Pa is going to sell Lester to-day.

TO DRY AND PACK APPLES

TO dry apples, also to pack, extremely acid fruit is best for retaining the flavor when dried. Cut in slices, string or merely place on shallow trays, drying in cool oven or sun. If dried in the sun heat over steam before putting away to destroy any possible insect eggs, and while drying cover with mosquito netting to protect from insects. In packing apples away for Winter keeping or shipping, if elder blossoms are placed between layers a delicate flavor is given.

SALAD DRESSING

MIX four tablespoons of butter, two tablespoons of flour, one cup of milk, one egg, one-half cup of vinegar, two teaspoons of mustard, one teaspoon of salt, two tablespoons of sugar, add a dash of cayenne pepper.

HOME-MADE HAIR TONIC

Any one troubled with dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair need not necessarily go to a high-priced specialist. The following prescription is recommended by the Reso Association of this city, and can be made by any one at home with very little trouble. In a six or eight ounce bottle put 5½ ounces Bay Rum, ¼ ounce Glycerin and ⅛ ounce Tinct. Cantharides. In these liquids drop 60 grains Resocarpin and shake until dissolved. Apply night and morning liberally with thorough rubbing. This prescription owes its success to the wonderful action of the powder, Resocarpin, which is obtained from a South American plant, and will positively clean the scalp of dandruff, produce a new growth and restore gray or faded hair to the natural color. Envelopes containing 60 grains can be had from any druggist, or will be mailed by the Reso Assoc., P. O. Box 2873, Boston, Mass., on receipt of 50c.

MRS. HAINSS OWN STORY AS SHE TOLD IT TO DOROTHY DIX

Defends Her Sons and Says They Are Not Morally Guilty.

Blames Claudia Hains for Troubles That Led to the Tragedy.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—In a remarkable interview with Dorothy Dix today, Mrs. Peter Conover Hains, mother of Peter C. Hains and T. Jenkins Hains, lying in jail awaiting trial for the murder of William E. Annis, tells for the first time of the alleged duplicity of the soldier's wife which led to the tragedy at the Bay Side Yacht Club.

The grief-stricken mother, full of fighting spirit, declared she was proud of her family and proud of her sons.

"They have done no wrong," she said, "and I have no fear that they will not be cleared."

Absent for a Week.

Then she related the incidents that led to the murder. Young Mrs. Hains had been absent from home a week. She returned in an automobile with Annis. She told General Hains that she had been in the mountains with friends. Later, when Captain Hains asked his father to accompany him to the place referred to in order to disprove the stories that had been circulated about his wife, the young woman turned on them and said:

"It's no use. I wasn't in the mountains. I will tell you everything." The story by Dorothy Dix follows:

By Dorothy Dix.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—"Mater dolorosa"—mother of sorrows—that is the sad title that best fits Mrs. Peter Conover Hains, whose two sons lie in Long Island jail, charged with murder.

Many women have suffered through their children, but surely in the long martyrdom of motherhood since the world began no woman has drunk deeper of the cup of tears than this fine and aristocratic old lady, who for the second time has been doomed to bear the heart-withering anxiety and anguish of seeing the sons she has borne, and that are bone of her bone and flesh of her flesh, caught in the coils of the law and fighting for their lives.

Once before when Thornton Jenkins Hains killed Hannahan in Chesapeake Bay she trod that Gethsemane, and now again she must go through the long-drawn out agony of a murder trial with not one but two sons facing the bar of justice.

Again she must sit day after day and listen while the prosecution, as ruthless to her senses as bloodhounds, demand in the name of the law that her boys shall pay a life for a life. Again she must scan the faces of the jury with a soul torn between fear and hope. Again she must know that terrible hour when one waits, helpless, everything done that skill can do for the verdict that means life or death, freedom or prison, for those one holds dearest.

"Was Just All Mother."

The blight of this terrible fate of one who has given not one but two hostages to fortune, was upon Mrs. Hains as she came down the long dock to the ferry to meet a little group of newspaper men and women.

She is a brave little woman, who comes of fighting stock. Her father was an admiral in the navy, her husband is a soldier and she is the mother of soldiers, but when she began to speak of her boys she was just all mother, a piteous, broken old woman, mourning like Rachel over her children and refusing to be comforted.

She could only sob out her love and her faith in them, that they were such good boys and that people mustn't blame Thornton for what he did because he was only trying to take care of Connie, like she told him to; that Connie was so wild with grief that she had told Thornton to mind his little brother.

And then the grief-stricken old lady gathered together her little flock, Peter Conover Hains's three children—Peter, 3d, who is only seven years old, and Hamilton, who is four, and Jack, who is only a year and a half, and Molly, Thornton Hains's little girl who is three—and the pathetic little group, the old and the young, who are the real victims of this tragedy, got into a couple of cabs and were driven over to the Pennsylvania ferry.

Afterward, through the courtesy of Mr. Shay, who with Mr. McIntyre, will defend the Hains brothers at their forthcoming trial, I made part of the journey to Washington with Mrs. Hains, who will remain at her home at the capital until the trial comes on.

DOROTHY DIX.

Mrs. Hains is an exceedingly handsome woman, grande dame to her finger tips. She is very small, with beautiful, wavy snow white hair, small, regular features, brilliant eyes, and a piquant brightness of personality that even her sore grief cannot quench. She comes of the bluest blood of Maryland and is naturally proud of her ancestry, whose flower was her father, who was an adjutant to Farragut at the famous battle of Mobile Bay, and was himself famous as a fighting admiral.

"I am proud of my family and proud of my sons," the gallant little mother said, her fighting spirit in her eyes. "They have done no wrong, and I have no fear that they will not be cleared. The half has not been told yet. We are waiting to tell that at the trial, and when the world hears that it will know that Peter had things to provoke him that no man of honor could stand.

"And they will know that Thornton was not to blame, and that all he did was just to take care of his brother like I told him to, for I was afraid Connie would kill himself, he was so beside himself with grief.

Father Broke News.

"It has been said that Thornton was the one who finally convinced Connie of his wife's guilt. That's not true. It was his father. When Connie reached San Francisco he got letters from his wife and others that convinced him that things were wrong at home, and he rushed to New York as fast as steam could carry him. He went, half crazed, to Claudia and taxed her with being faithless to him, and she laughed at him, and asked him if he had come all that way to make a fool of himself.

He was perfectly infatuated with her, and she could make him believe anything. So he accepted her word, and then the next day he telegraphed his father to come; that he wanted to see him.

"When the General got there Connie said to him that all of these stories that had been circulated against Claudia were slanders, and that he wanted his father to help him put them down; that he could not let things stand that way, with his wife under suspicion, and that he wanted his father to go with him the next day to that place in the mountains where Claudia had stayed the week she was away from home, and the two of them would then return and refute Claudia's detractors.

Declared Love for Annis.

"The General already had information of where Claudia had been during that week—it was the week during which the operation was performed upon her—but he agreed to go, and Connie was so happy planning for the start next morning. When Claudia heard that she simply turned on them, as coolly as you please, and said: 'It's no use, I wasn't in the mountains. I will tell you everything'; and then she made her confession to Connie and the General.

"She told the General that she had never loved Peter, and that she had loved Annis for five years and that she had loved him ever since she first met him.

"The General said: 'I suppose, then, that you and Annis will go off somewhere together,' and she replied, 'No, we have talked of that, but Mr. Annis is not willing to go.'"

Speaking of Mrs. Claudia Hains, Mrs. Hains said: "I always disliked Claudia personally, but I was devoted to Thornton's wife, Mary. Claudia has the most violent temper of anybody I ever saw, and she was always antagonistic to me. When my son married her I regarded it as a terrible mesalliance and it almost broke my heart, but he was my baby, my darling, the dearest thing on earth to me, and for his sake I tried to be friends with his wife and did everything in my power for her, even to having her family come and visit me. She never appreciated it, however, and was always so disagreeable that I saw as little of her as possible.

A "Neglectful Mother."

"I knew she was a neglectful mother and perfectly mad about dressing herself, but I was not prepared for anything criminal, and so the announcement of her faithlessness to my son came on me with as much of a shock as it did on him.

"I never saw any one so infatuated with a woman as he was with Claudia. He would never listen to a suggestion that she might be at fault about a thing, and he denied himself everything to give to her. He divided his salary with her when he was away, and his father supplied her with what other money she needed.

"Everything was for Claudia. Why, all the time he was away on this last trip he was rummaging the Orient for beautiful things for her, and you never saw anything like the presents he was bringing home. Things for her adornment—a gold comb set with pearls that a jeweler says is worth $500, exquisite pine apples, tissues, gorgeous embroidery for the house, [illegible] for the table, every sort of trinketry that a man in love could find for the woman he worshipped. He was hurrying back to her with all these loving remembrances, and he got home to be convinced that she had betrayed him.

"A Fool There Was."

"Can you think of anything more terrible? It drove the boy mad. They sent Claudia away the next day after her confession and I went on to take charge of the children, and for days and days he would walk up and down the floor, saying over and over and over again these lines from Kipling in the 'Vampire':

"A fool there was, and he made his prayer
(Even as you and I)
To a rag and a bone and a hank of hair;
We called her the woman who didn't care,
But the fool he called her his lady fair
(Even as you and I)."

"Then it was that I asked Thornton to take care of his brother, for I was afraid he would do himself harm. And Thornton did it.

"Claudia never seemed to care for her children. She had some money, but she would spend the money in ways we never suspected but that seem quite clear now; and often the children would have nothing to eat but bread and jam, and their little shoes would be so shabby they would be ashamed to play with the other children.

"Why, when I was packing up Connie's household effects the other day, I came across the children's little savings banks, and there wasn't a penny in them.

"Their mother would go away for days at a time, leaving the children alone with a negro servant. The time she went to the hospital she didn't even leave an address behind and the children were there a whole week with nobody but the servants. When she came back Annis brought her in a closed auto and lifted her out. She was nearly dead and she said to the servants, 'Well, here I am, all that is left of me.' Then she went to bed and stayed there for a week.

Peter Is "Papa's Boy."

"The tales I have heard since Claudia left about how she neglected her children and how poor little Peter would wander around the post looking for his mother, are simply heartbreaking.

"I think she didn't care for Peter at all. He saw too much, and he hated Annis because when Annis came the little fellow was sent to the kitchen to eat."

"The day after the killing of Annis Claudia came to Fort Hancock and demanded the children. When I saw her coming I went and locked myself in a room, for I felt I could not bear to see her, but she called Peter to her and said: 'Peter, I want you to stand by mamma.' 'No,' he replied, 'I am papa's boy and I am going to stand by him.'

"When the court decided that their mother was not to have them Peter pranced all over the house for joy, and even fat little Buster amused us by stopping in the midst of his dinner and saying: 'Grandma, I have decided that I won't leave you, no matter what the judge says.'"

RICH AND POOR RUB ELBOWS IN COMMON CAUSE

Westerner Says Society People Have "Nerves" From Modern Conditions.

L. T. Cooper, the man who claims that Americans have weak stomachs and who is meeting the public of this city, seems to be attracting an unusual amount of attention.

Each day New Yorkers are calling to hear about his theories and medicine in greater numbers, and for the past few days his headquarters has presented a novel sight.

A remarkable feature to an onlooker, is the varied types of people whom Cooper is attracting. They range from prosperous-looking business men and fashionably dressed women to day laborers and their plainly dressed wives. All rub elbows in a common cause—the pursuit of health, or, as Cooper puts it, "sound digestion."

In an interview Thursday afternoon, when the striking difference in the various visitors was called to his attention, Cooper said: "Why not? Because a man has a million dollars that doesn't make his stomach any better. On the contrary, sitting at a desk all day, riding back and forth in an automobile and stuffing himself full of rich food will put his entire system out of order as sure as fate. Most of the men and women of this class whom I meet tell me they have been seeing nerve specialists. The well-to-do seem to attribute all their troubles to nerves. It's not their nerves. It's modern conditions that have produced the thousands of half-sick people among rich and poor alike in this city, and every other city in America. It's broken-down, over-worked, stuffed-up digestive organs—that's where the trouble is.

"I am going to make a lot of people realize these facts before I leave New York. Many who are calling now have been sent here by friends. To-day a prominent woman said she had come because her maid told her that my medicine was 'doing wonders for her.' She said, 'my maid is suffering from insomnia, caused by nervous exhaustion, and I have had the same trouble for three years.' I wanted to reply—'tommyrot, madam; both your maid and yourself are suffering from too little fresh air and too much food,' but I didn't. I sold her the medicine and let it go at that. If it makes her a well woman she will be positive it relieved her of nervous trouble. As a matter of fact there isn't a single ingredient in Cooper's New Discovery intended to act on the nervous system. Get the digestive organs working properly and the nerves will right themselves."

Among New Yorkers who have become convinced that Cooper's medicine is all that is claimed is Mr. Frank Perkinson, of No. 207 Butler street, Brooklyn, a prominent contractor, who, when interviewed Thursday, said: "A few weeks ago I began to hear of Cooper and his ideas about stomach trouble. Next, one or two friends of mine told me that his medicine had done a great deal for them. Twelve days ago I came here, saw Cooper and got the medicine. To-day I am perfectly well, at least I feel so. I sleep like a boy, can eat anything, and have no more rheumatism or stomach trouble. I no longer have any gas on my stomach and feel as I did many years ago. No one could be more astonished by these facts than myself. They are remarkable, but true. This man undoubtedly has a wonderful medicine. When I came in here twelve days ago I was all bent over with rheumatism. To-day I can walk perfectly erect, and feel as though I could run five miles.

"I have lived in Brooklyn 38 years. A great many people know me and can vouch for this statement. I feel so well I cannot believe I am the same man who dragged himself in here two weeks ago."

Cooper's New Discovery, the remarkable medicine which has excited so much comment in New York, is now on sale at leading drug stores everywhere throughout the United States. Ask your druggist for it.

TOWN OF TAFT BURNED AGAIN

BUTTE, Mont., Nov. 13.—The second fire within a few months burned down again the new town of Taft on the St. Paul road west of Missoula. One man was burned to death.

Six months ago Taft had a population of 4000, but now only several buildings and less than a score of people remain. Taft was a typical frontier camp of tough repute while it existed.

SILVER STRONG BOXES LOOTED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—Nearly $1,000 worth of silverware and [illegible] apparel, the property of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Poor, and their daughter, Mrs. [illegible] Rainey, wife of Lieutenant Rainey of the navy, were stolen some time within the last ten days from boxes shipped by freight from their summer home in New York State.

The thefts were not discovered until the cases in which the goods had been packed were opened. Some boxes are still missing. All the others were found to have been rifled once while in transit and the contents noted.

YALE FOOTBALL A BROWN TROPHY

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 13.—The football with which the Brown University football team played a 10-10 tie game with Yale at New Haven last Saturday is now in the trophy room at the Brown Union. As the game was a tie, there was some question which team would keep the ball. Captain Burch of Yale had the ball at the close of the game Saturday. He courteously shipped the ball to Captain Mayhew of the Brown team, and it was installed in the trophy room. The ball is now painted blue and inscribed with the names of the teams and the score.

WIND UNROOFS CAR; BRAKEMAN KILLED

SPRINGFIELD, Nov. 13.—The wind tearing the roof from a freight car here caused the death of James Rohan, one of the oldest brakemen on the Boston & Albany road. The train was crossing the railroad bridge over the Connecticut River when the car on which Rohan was standing was unroofed. He was swept from the top of the car as it swung over and landed on one of the iron girders between the tracks. The [illegible] crashed down upon him, inflicting injuries from which he died soon after.

BALLOONS TO RACE ACROSS CONTINENT

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 13.—One of the most spectacular balloon races in the history of American aeronautics will be started from Los Angeles next Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, when the two monster balloons America and United States will be sent away in a race across the continent that may result in breaking all records for long-distance flights.

The aeronauts, Captain A. E. Mueller and Horace B. Wild, will be in the baskets, each accompanied by a navigator. Captain Mueller will command the America and Mr. Wild the United States.

This will be the first great balloon race to be started on the Pacific coast.

The craft must surmount three lofty mountain ranges in their flight, which necessitates their rising to a height hitherto unattained.

The America and United States will not be inflated with ordinary coal gas, but with pure hydrogen gas. Each balloon will carry about three tons of ballast.

CRACK BIKERS HERE FOR BIG RACE IN PARK SQUARE RINK

SIX-DAY RIDERS IN HUB READY FOR BIG RACE

Most of the big six-day riders who are to compete in the grind next week at the Park Square Coliseum indoor track are here training and it's the greatest array of talent that the Hub ever saw.

The event this year will be the greatest ever. Never was a better field from a racing standpoint brought together and Manager Aleck Maclean, who has the confidence of all the professionals, is to be congratulated for his ability to get such a fine list.

It will be international in character as the best of Europe, Australia and America will be in the grind [illegible] after the big prizes.

That the winner will be an American team is doubtful, as so many of the foreigners are in the saddle and they are the most dangerous to the Yankee prospects.

But the American riders will not go down to defeat without making the greatest struggle ever seen on the track.

The twelve teams as they line up for the getaway will show the fastest lot of pedal pushers who have assembled [illegible] for years in a grueling contest as this is sure to be.

In the constant [illegible] which are bound to come the sprinters will find it a [illegible] difficult [illegible] the [illegible] will be [illegible] working against each other which will [illegible] the feeling among the riders.

[illegible] the management has been besieged [illegible] a larger number [illegible] from the [illegible] the Boston. [illegible] the Frenchman [illegible] which has been in the front of every six-day race, should be prominent.

[illegible] Fulton and Eddie Root will be a popular team with most of the fans, while the [illegible] pair, Iver Lawson and Anderson, will [illegible] honors there.

The Russian, Demcovitch, and Halligan will come in for a lot of attention. The Mormons, Hollister and Demara, are on hand. [illegible], the Dutchman, who won the race last year with Hugh MacLean, will be in the clash. McFarland and Clarke, the Australians; Vanoni, the Italian; Hill and Cameron, the star amateurs, are already building up their speed.

YALE'S NEW QUARTER LOOKS LIKE A STAR

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 13.—Arthur Brides and Ted Coy, who figured in the Yale shakeup, over which much publicity fuss has been made, are not new to the line by any means. Brides, during his football career at Yale, has played both guard and tackle. In fact he was a line man before he ever went to the back field. It was only last season that he was sent behind the line. Coy played tackle on his freshman team at Yale year before last, but last year on the varsity eleven was more useful as a fullback than in the line. Last year in the Princeton game he was the most prominent figure in one of the most striking plays that has been worked under the new rules, the run from a fake placement kick, which worked havoc with Princeton's lead. That play and the long forward pass the year before made from a manoeuvre which masked [illegible] were two that helped put Yale in the lead in the new [illegible].

The point about the shakeup is not so much the changes in positions as that they are necessary at the eleventh hour. And the shifting of Brides and Coy is not such a momentous affair as the digging up of two practically new men behind the line. Field, who has been so brilliant, and Johnson, who is now the first choice quarterback, were scarcely thought of as varsity players two weeks ago. Johnson is a junior who came out a little as a freshman and as a sophomore, but didn't play much or attract much attention. He is said to be an excellent general and to give his signals with quickness and snap, and likely to be of more value in driving his team than to shine as a back field player. "I look for him to be a star quarterback next year if not this," said one of the Yale coaches yesterday. Field is a stocky lad of about 178 pounds who hits a line good and hard. Johnson is regarded as a comer, though until lately less prominent than Murphy, Bingham, Corey or Hopkins, the others tried.

There is little doubt that the Yale team will line up against Princeton as follows: Coy and Haines, ends; Lilley and Brides, tackles; Andrus and Goebel, guards; Biddle, centre; Johnson, quarterback; Daly and Philbin, halfbacks, and Field, fullback.

UHLAN'S SISTER IS FAST.

The yearling sister to Uhlan, 2:07¾, is a trotter, sure. She is in all of the futurities, and if she meets with no accident will be dangerous. Eddie McGrath, who developed Uhlan, considers her fully as promising as the black flyer.

'WE-A-A-AH' JENNINGS CHEERS TEAM

Hughie Jennings was back on the side lines Saturday.

The big man of the American League again backed a winner.

The winner was Cornell; the loser Amherst.

Hughie is a graduate of Cornell, and he still has a whole lot of love for his alma mater.

And everybody at Cornell has a whole lot of love for Hughie, and they think he's just about the biggest chap that baseball ever knew.

Cornell didn't have any too high hopes of defeating Amherst, and Cornell needed all her supporters badly.

While Detroit was fighting for the American League pennant, Ithacans were rooting for Hughie. Now they needed him.

If there is anything about the little manager of the Tigers that the world admires it's his appreciation for loyalty, and the fact that the Cornell student body rooted for him when the battle was warm and things were going up and down has been one of his biggest joys.

To the surprise and happiness of everybody at Cornell, Hughie appeared on the old campus Saturday morning. He mingled with the alumni throng and the new throng, and he was a welcome guest in each circle.

The Tiger leader was on the side lines and all through the contest, when Cornell was making a game fight, and when they found Amherst's eleven representatives just as game, there came across the gridiron:

"We-a-a-ah, Cornell!" "Come on, Cornell!" "We-a-a-ah!"

And Hughie kept it up, and the crowd behind him cheered him, and the Cornell eleven in the field got new life and ginger. Cornell got the best of Amherst. Cornell won, 6 to 0.

Hughie Jennings is the proud son of Cornell.

JIM BARRY IS CLIMBING.

Jim Barry went up another rung on the pugilistic ladder by beating Jim Flynn in Los Angeles the other night. It was a hard battle, and Barry won in the last [illegible] of the ten rounds. He will be matched with Al Kaufman, and then the real man to fight the winner of the Johnson-Burns championship contest will be narrowed down. Whoever it is, he will give the champion an argument worth seeing.

FIRST 1909 FORD CAR ON EXHIBITION IN HUB

BY J. C. KERRISON.

The first of the 1909 Fords has arrived. It reached here yesterday afternoon, and Manager Charles E. Fay of the local branch of the company is accordingly busy. The new Ford, which is of the five-passenger touring car class, is a decidedly attractive proposition, being every bit a motor car with speed and durability. About the first thing which attracts one's attention is the fact that the steering column is on the left-hand side of the car and the new style of front and rear springs, neither of which have been seen in many other cars this year. Externally the car looks strong, durable and capable, and bears the Ford imprint, as well as the assurance that goes with an established reputation of the Ford.

By the raising of the hood one sees as neat a little motor as can be found anywhere. It is of the four-cylinder type, cast in one block, with water jackets and upper half of crank case integral, the water jacketed cylinder head being detachable by the removal of but twelve nuts.

The lower half of the crank case is extended to form the lower half of the housing for fly wheel and transmission, thereby enclosing all working parts in one seamless pressed steel casing that is absolutely oil tight.

The fly wheel is back of the engine and is utilized as a rotor for the magneto generator. It likewise supports the transmission gears, which with the rotor of the magneto, are included in the weight of the fly wheel. This is one of the means employed to lighten the car—the elimination of unnecessary weight.

Crank and cam shafts and connecting rods are drop forged each from a single piece of non-welded Ford Vanadium steel, heat treated. Cam shaft has eight cams integral. Crank shaft is 3-bearing, all bearings extra large. All bearing surfaces are ground to absolute accuracy. The pistons are four inches long of the four ring type ground to accuracy.

Castle nuts—the nut with a lock, the kind that cannot be jarred loose—are used exclusively and throughout the entire car. Just an indication of how the smallest detail has been carefully perfected.

The transmission is of the Ford spur planetary type, with no internal gears, while the low speed and reverse clutches are fibre-lined steel bands, and the high speed clutch is of the multiple disc type so designed as to give the maximum bearing surface. As a whole the car is particularly attractive, and it can truly be said that it would be impossible to secure higher priced quality in so low a priced car than there is to be found in the new model, and which, by the way, is but a continuance of the policy so long followed by this famous company.

OWEN MORAN PICKS DRISCOLL

Owen Moran thinks Driscoll will outpoint Baldwin. "He is a fast fellow up on his toes and can go great guns for six rounds," says Owen. "He can't hit very hard, but he will smother Baldwin in that time. My impression is that Baldwin is awfully slow.

"You know Driscoll claims the featherweight title of England. I won it, and he never fought me for it. I hear he claims to have beaten me. I never had a glove on with him in my life. I'd like to fight him. We are both under the management of Harvey, but I'd like to get a crack at him just the same.

"The reason that he claims the English title is because the National Sporting Club of London presented him with the palm. They wouldn't let me fight for it at the club, because I demanded the proper amount of money. They gave Burns all he asked, and he was a foreigner. They refused me one-sixth of the amount he got, and me an Englishman and a champion. If Driscoll thinks that he is the champion, I will fight him in America for it."

YALE MAKES CHANGE IN THE TEAM'S LINEUP

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 13.—The Yale football squad leaves to-night for New York, where they will stop at the Murray Hill Hotel and go down to Princeton to-morrow morning. Fully 1,000 students will attend the game and there will be a big crowd at the depot to see the team off.

The coaches are slow to express an opinion as to the outcome of either to-morrow's game or the game with Harvard a week hence. Jack Owsley, however, said that he expected that Yale would win both games, especially the Harvard game.

Head Coach Biglow announced one change in the varsity lineup for the Princeton game. This is the withdrawal of Fred Daly from the position of right halfback and the placing of Fred Murphy in his place. In the second half of the Princeton game last year, Murphy played the position and was responsible for many of the gains.

The revised lineup of Yale for the Princeton game will be: Haines, l.e.; Lilley, l.t.; Andrus, l.g.; Biddle, c.; Goebel, r.g.; Brides, r.t.; Coy, r.e.; Johnson, q.b.; Philbin, l.h.b.; Murphy, r.h.b.; Field, f.b.

TIGERS ARE IN GOOD SHAPE FOR GAME WITH YALE

PRINCETON, Nov. 13.—The Tiger kickers, who are practicing at Camp Hill, are in fine shape for their game with Yale to-morrow. Captain Dillon is the only man not at his best.

A few surprises, it is said, are coming in the official lineup, which will be announced here to-night. The backfield will be the cause of the surprise. Dawson, Feigenspan, Bard, Read, Tibbott, Coxe and Cunningham are all very likely to get into the game.

Captain Dillon's condition, it is known, is causing considerable worry. He may not start the game against Yale, but if he does play it will be only for a short time.

AMATEURS TO BOX TO-NIGHT AT ARMORY A. A.

The members of the Armory A. A. have a fine boxing show offered them to-night as a strong card of amateur bouts will be the entertainment.

There are three specials between high class amateur talent with champions and future champs performing besides the three open classes.

Two prizes are offered in each of the open classes which will make the boys display their best paces and there may be some hidden talent in the bunch of aspiring knights of the ring.

Henry Hall, the 158-pound national amateur champion, will be one of the stars and he will have his hands full when he meets Harris, the East Boston blacksmith, who won his class at the B. A. A.

The other specials are Max Landy against John Nolan, a couple of clever artists and shifty hitters and the other has Baker and Daniels, who are aggressive boys and sure to give a slashing bout to earn the prize.

BIG TRADE IS LIKELY.

Navin and Jennings are anxious to get Hal Chase and George Moriarity of the Highlanders to play first and third base respectively for the Tigers. They are ready to go most any length to secure these men. The original offer to Frank Farrell was Rossman and Coughlin for Chase and Moriarity. This was refused. Then Navin made several other offers, and it stands now that Rossman, Mullin, Coughlin, Killifer and Jones are likely to go to the Highlanders.

ATTELL PICKS KETCHEL.

Abe Attell will wager that Ketchel beats Papke. He told Jeffries the other day that it was rank overconfidence that lost for the Michigander, and that he won't be caught napping this time. Papke surprised even his trainer, Tom Jones, when he got on the scale at Shannon's and tipped the beam at 150½. It seems impossible, but a dozen men vouched for the figures.

BALDWIN READY FOR DRISCOLL

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Jim Driscoll, the English champion, and Matty Baldwin of Boston are both in fine shape for their bout at the Fairmont A. C. here to-night. Both wound up their training yesterday and are down to weight, and with to-day's rest will enter the ring prepared for the greatest battle of their careers.

Since the news of the injunction granted by the Supreme Court restraining the police from interfering with to-night's show the secretary of the club has been swamped with a flood of applications for tickets from members and their promises to be a great crowd present when the gong sounds to start the entertainment.

Baldwin has proved his worth against some of the best men in the ring to-day, and on account of his aggressive style of milling has always been a favorite here, and the members know that when he is slated to appear they are sure of getting their money's worth.

BASEBALL NEWS AND NOTES

Fred Mitchell is said to be negotiating for half the franchise of the [illegible] Club of the South Michigan League.

Elberfeld has announced that he is willing to be traded to some other club [illegible] to settle his [illegible].

Stallings will have his hands full in restoring the [illegible]

[illegible] Murphy and [illegible] as [illegible] as ever this [illegible].

[illegible] on his way to [illegible] the right of his [illegible]. If he puts [illegible] which he had [illegible]

It was but a few years ago that Jesse Tannehill was the [illegible] of the American League, but he has evidently seen his best days. At one time [illegible] one of the [illegible]. Ed. Killian [illegible] but seems to go wrong [illegible].

[illegible] is [illegible] as one of the best [illegible] in National League [illegible], but until [illegible] will have to be counted as outside the list of "greats."

A [illegible] was touting Karger of the Cincinnati as the best [illegible] in the [illegible], and [illegible] $15,000 for his release. The offer was refused and Karger was a dead one all 1907.

White does not [illegible] to have the physique that should go with a [illegible] pitcher, but he makes up for a lack of strength in [illegible] and in both big leagues [illegible] southpaw than the [illegible] of [illegible]. Since casting his fortunes with the American League he has never had a [illegible] season. In 1906 he finished [illegible] among the league pitchers with a mark of .750. Only once has he had a poorer record than that secured by the White Sox.

[illegible], with his great cross-fire delivery, is another pitcher who has failed but once to win more games than he lost. That was this year, when he took down a mark of .483. In 1906 he led the league twirlers with an average of .760. The Athletics that year had a record of only .538.

Two minor league clubs are camping on the trail of John Ganzel in the hope of getting him to manage their teams next season. Rochester and Toronto, both in the Eastern League, want "Big John." However, the chances are that he will buy himself a franchise and work for himself.

NO PHOTOS FOR PAPKE.

Jimmy Coffroth wiped out a small fortune for Papke when he wouldn't allow moving pictures of the Papke-Ketchel fight to be taken unless his terms were observed. Coffroth demanded $3,000 before he would install the machines, which he controls on the Coast. The further demand of one-third interest in them after they were taken didn't quite strike the fancy of Papke's manager, and he gave up the idea. The pictures would have been money-makers in the East had they been brought here, as everyone is anxious to see the Michigan marvel in action, if only in a shadow dance.

George's Values Should Cause Every Snappy Dresser to Act Promptly.

Every intelligent man knows how a Presidential year, depressed business, and a warm Fall will cause the tailors to have thousands of garments refused and otherwise left on their hands. As the outlet through which the tailors dispose of their uncalled for garments, we are receiving so many that we are overcrowded. This explains why with many more coming, we cut prices to cost and the expense of advertising, in order to speedily reduce stock. With the reductions to last only while the overstock lasts, it will pay to buy now. $12, $15, $18, $20, $25, $30 and $35, for Sack Suits, single and double breasted, Prince Alberts, Walking Suits, Full Dress and Tuxedo Suits, medium and heavy weight Overcoats and Cravenettes, which were custom made for $30, $35, $45, $50, $60, $75 up to $100. As sample values we name, Sack Suits, dark blue imported worsted, coat snappy 3-button effect with the new dip front. Made to order by Worthington of Broadway, N. Y. for $30. Our price, $12. Medium weight Overcoat, olive gray, the new shade, long, loose, and with high broad shoulders. Made to order for $40 by a noted Boston tailor. Our price, $15. What Should Be a Man's Object in Life?

Your Answer Tells What You Are

Copyright, 1908, by American-Journal-Examiner

Sermons in stones are familiar, but few take the trouble to dig them out. Certainly none looks for sermons in a one-cent evening newspaper.

At the same time, will you kindly think over and answer the question that heads this column?

Here we are, marooned for a few days on a flying ball of earth. We don't know how we got here. We don't know where we are going. We are full of beautiful and satisfying FAITH. But we don't KNOW.

> Into this Universe, and WHY not knowing,
> Nor WHENCE, like Water, willy-nilly flowing;
> And out of it as Wind along the Waste,
> I know not WHITHER, willy-nilly blowing.

That's the way Omar, the old tent-maker, puts it.

We drift from dinner to the theatre, thence to bed, thence to breakfast, thence to work, and so on. Or, if in hard luck, we struggle and wail "cursing our day," or more frequently cursing society.

We rarely stop to think what it is all about, or what we are here for.

We know the pig's object in life. It has been beautifully and permanently outlined in Carlyle's "pig catechism." The pig's life object is to get fat and keep fat—to get his full share of swill and as much more as he can manage to secure. And his life object is worthy. By sticking at it he develops fat hams inside his bristles, and WE know, though he does not, that the production of fat hams is his destiny.

But our human destiny is NOT to produce fat hams. Why do so many of us live earnestly on the pig basis? Why do we struggle savagely for money to buy our kind of swill—luxury, food, etc.—and cease all struggling when that money is obtained?

Is fear of poverty and dependence the only emotion that should move us?

Are we here merely to STAY here and EAT here?

A great German scientist, very learned and about as imaginative as a wart hog, declares that the human face is merely an extension and elaboration of the alimentary canal—that the beauty of expression [illegible] marvellous qualities of a noble human face, are merely indirect [illegible] of the alimentary canal's strivings to satisfy its wants.

That is a hideous conception, is it not? But it is no more unworthy than the average human life, and the average existence has much to justify the German's speculations.

What SHALL we strive for? MONEY?

Get a thousand millions. Your day will come, and in due course the graveyard rat will gnaw as calmly at your bump of acquisitiveness as at the mean coat of the pauper.

Then, shall we strive for POWER?

The names of the first great kings of the world are forgotten, and the names of all those whose power we envy will drift to forgetfulness soon. What does the most powerful man in the world amount to standing at the brink of Niagara, with his solar plexus trembling? What is his power compared with the force of the wind or the energy of one small wave sweeping along the shore?

The power which man can build up within himself, for himself, is nothing. Only the dull reasoning of gratified egotism can make it seem worth while.

Then what IS worth while? Let us look at some of the men who have come and gone, and whose lives inspire us. Take a few at random:

Columbus, Michael Angelo, Wilberforce, Shakespeare, Galileo, Fulton, Watt, Hargreaves—these will do.

Let us ask ourselves this question: "Was there any ONE THING that distinguished ALL their lives, that united all these men, active in fields so different?"

Yes. Every man among them, and every man whose life history is worth the telling, did something for THE GOOD OF OTHER MEN.

Hargreaves, the weaver, invented the spinning-jenny, and his invention clothes and employs hundreds of millions.

Galileo perfected the telescope, spread out before man's intellect the grandeur of the universe. Wilberforce helped to awaken man's conscience. He freed millions of slaves. Columbus gave a home to great nations. We thrive to-day because of his noble courage. Michael Angelo and Shakespeare stirred human genius to new efforts, and fed the human mind—a task more worthy than the feeding of the human stomach. We ride in Fulton's steamboats, and Watt's engine pulls us along.

Men who are truly great have DONE GOOD to their fellow-man. And the greatest Soul ever born on earth came to urge but one thing upon humanity, "LOVE ONE ANOTHER."

Get money if you can. Get power if you can. Then, if you want to be more than the ten thousand million unknown mingled in the dust beneath you see what good you can do with your money and your power.

If you are one of the many millions who have not and can't get money or power, see what good you can do without either.

You can help carry a load for an old man. You can encourage and help a poor devil trying to reform. You can set a good example to children. You can stick to the men with whom you work, fighting honestly for their welfare.

Time was when the ablest man would rather kill ten men than feed a thousand children. That time has gone. We do not care much about feeding the children, but we care less about killing the men. To that extent we have improved already.

The day will come when we shall prefer helping our neighbor to robbing him—legally—of a million dollars.

Do what good you can NOW, while it is unusual, and have the satisfaction of being a pioneer and an eccentric.

JOHN, I FIND A BLONDE HAIR ON YOUR COAT "WHERE DID YOU GET IT"
NOW LISTEN IT WAS LIKE THIS
HELP!
I WAS GOING UP TOWN WHEN I HEARD A CRY COMING FROM THE TOP OF THE FLAT-IRON BUILDING
I CLIMBED UP
I SAW A STENOGRAPHER IN HER OFFICE BEING ATTACKED BY A MOUSE
HELP!
I RESCUED HER
YOU HERO!

The Greater Love

By ELLA WHEELER WILCOX

Copyright, 1908, by American-Journal-Examiner

HEAR thou my prayer, great God of opulence;
Give me no blessings, save as recompense
For blessings which I lovingly bestow
On needy stranger or on suffering foe.
If Wealth, by chance, should on my path appear,
Let Wisdom and Benevolence stand near,
And Charity within my portal wait,
To guard me from acquaintance intimate.

Yet in this intricate great art of living
Guide me away from misdirected giving,
And show me how to spur the laggard soul
To strive alone once more to gain the goal.

Repay my worldly efforts to attain
Only as I develop heart and brain;
Nor brand me with the "Dollar Sign" above
A bosom void of sympathy and love.

If on the carrying winds my name be blown
To any land or time beyond my own,
Let it not be as one who gained the day
By crowding others from the chosen way;
Rather as one who missed the highest place
Pausing to cheer spent runners in the race.
To do—to have—is lesser than to BE;
The greater boon I ask, dear God, from Thee.

The Power That Rules Us

A Great Spiritual Law Governs All, and to Live in Harmony With It Is to Advance

By ELLA WHEELER WILCOX

Copyright, 1908, by American-Journal-Examiner

First—Is there a divine power or some agency that operates for, with or against a man?

Second—If so, how can we live in harmony with this law so that it will always work for our good?

Third—If not, are we subject only to the law of cause and effect?

A TRUTH SEEKER.

THAT there is a great and wonderful power back of this universe must be evident to every intelligent mind. The earth, science proves to us, has existed at least twenty millions of years. There are thousands of planets more important than the earth. The majority are unquestionably inhabited by beings suited to their environment.

As after twenty millions of years man has not attained the power to create one little sphere and set it in space, something greater than man must have been the cause.

From that cause all existing things sprang.

You and I were part of the original source.

We hold within ourselves all power for good or evil.

Nothing, and no one, can "operate against us" if we do not operate against ourselves.

The way to "live in harmony with the Law" is to believe ourselves divine beings, necessary to the complete plan. No matter how humble our station, how obscure our lot, how menial our labor, yet must we remember that we are heirs to all that earth or heaven, life or death, can give, for we emanated from the Supreme Cause.

It is an inspiring thought, and if held unswervingly in the mind, and if our conduct is in harmony with the thought, it must and will bring us whatever we desire.

Not immediately, but slowly, as all great laws operate, will this spiritual law prove itself.

As the earth prepares itself for harvest, as the babe develops into maturity, so do the thoughts of our minds ripen and unfold into effects.

No evil can befall us that we do not invite by a weak, vicious or unfocused state of mentality; much that men call evil is good in disguise.

A woman who is known in two continents by her books of clean, interesting fiction, and whose royalties have grown into a fortune, was maintaining herself and her fatherless children by doing reportorial work, when she fell and broke her leg.

"Oh, evil destiny, how cruel you are," she cried, "to rob me of my only means of sustenance!"

Yet during her two months of enforced mental rest she began her first novel, which opened the door to fame and fortune for her.

The inevitable is always for the best.

But scores of undesirable ills fall to our lot which are not inevitable, but merely brought about by our mental attitude, or lack of attitude.

Man sprang forth from the Infinite and his powers are infinite. He should say to himself with each new day begun:

"I have health, love, power, faith; whatever I desire this day shall help bring to me. Nothing but good can go forth from me or come to me."

So spiritually armored, he puts himself in touch with divine powers and in harmony with the Law, the law of universal good and the law of spiritual cause and effect.

WHAT? — THIS WINTER I'LL DO IT MYSELF! SEND HIM AWAY — HE'S TOO LAZY!
JUST LOOK HERE, HOW HE LEFT THE FURNACE LAST YEAR, CHOCK FULL OF ASHES!
WHERE'S THE ASH CAN? WANT ME TO THROW THEM ON THE FLOOR?
HERE IT IS, DEARIE, RIGHT BEHIND YOU.
DEARIE, HADN'T YOU BETTER ——
I'M TENDING TO THE FURNACE, — DON'T BOTHER ME!
THIS BLAMED THING WON'T LIGHT!
WHY YOU'VE NOTHING BUT COAL THERE, — NOT A BIT OF KINDLING
HANG THE CONFOUNDED FURNACE! WHY DIDN'T YOU HIRE THAT MAN!
